Sierra Service Project August Sharing Tree

The mission of Sierra Service Project is “building faith and strengthening communities through service to others.” The heart of the mission is the inclusion and training of youth and young adults. For most of its 50-year history, SSP’s primary work has been its summer program. Youth spend a week in an underserved community making home repairs; working on community improvement projects; singing, playing, and praying together.

In recent years, Sierra Service Project has expanded its programs to include the Sacramento Sustainability Academy to train young adults in sustainable construction and urban agriculture. They also offer a free tool library and hold additional days of service and youth programs in the North Sacramento area.

Your gifts help SSP provide scholarships and building materials for the summer program, as well as training and employment for young adults. These gifts mean Sierra Service Project can do what it does best: equip youth and young adults, and model healthy community.
