MOWW 2017 DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD RECIPIENT

MG DAVID E. KRATZER, USA (RET)

OFFICERSHIP: THE RESPONSIBILITY OF DUTY

Dear Companions,

A new program year is a time of reflection on what we have achieved and what lessons we learned, and what our plans are for the future. What are our new objectives? Have we best prepared ourselves and our chapters for the future?

The answer to these kinds of questions will largely depend on our individual commitment to the Order. The need is as great as it has ever been to provide patriotic education and veteran support to others, advocate for an adequate homeland and national security policy, and provide developmental guidance, recognition and support to fellow Companions. Will we Companions commit to being part of the selfless few who do the continuing, vital work of the Order?

Accepting "officership" as a lifelong way of operating means believing we have a moral and ethical responsibility stemming from our oath to serve the nation that does not terminate when our active service ends. Our duty is to continue passing on what we learned while learning ourselves, just as first volunteering to be a Companion and then second volunteering for positions also constitutes our duty.

As we look forward, we can draw inspiration from those steadfast, early Companions who founded our Order. They had no selfish ends to serve nor did they only think about today. Instead, they joined in common cause to serve the community, the nation and each other by promoting an adequate national security, by passing on the fundamentals upon which our nation was founded to the next generations, and by growing and continually improving their Order.

Though our operational objective is to provide outreach program services to the community, our overarching organizational obligation is to achieve each of MOWW's Strategic Goals. Success in achieving Strategic Goal 1 (recruit, participate and serve) enables success in all other Strategic Goals—including our outreach mission—and, importantly, secures the future of the Military Order.

Thank you for all that you do to serve each other, your communities and the nation through your good work. Montez and I hope to see you at the convention.

FOR THE GOOD OF THE ORDER

COL JACK B. JONES, PhD, USA (RET)

75TH COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, 2005-2006

16 April 1931—6 June 2017

COL Jones served as a chapter, department and region commander; he was the Chair of both the Membership Committee and Strategic Planning Committee, was Vice Chair of the Historical & Archives Committee, the Assistant Historian General, an EXCOM member and was the Commander-in-Chief of the Military Order of the World Wars, among other roles. He was a member of the General Hoyt S. Vandenberg Chapter, CA.

He served 40 years active and Reserve duty with the Army in various command and staff assignments throughout his career. His overseas assignments were in Okinawa and the Philippines, and he retired in 1987 while serving as a deputy chief of staff with the 351st Civil Affairs Command.

He served as a Police Officer in Santa Barbara for seven years and was a Detective Sergeant when he left the department to pursue his Master's degree at the University of California at Santa Barbara. He was also a Juvenile Detective and Reserve Commander with the San Luis Obispo Sheriff's Department. Importantly, he was a Professor Emeritus from California Polytechnic State University, having earned doctoral degrees from the University of Arizona and California Western University.

COL Jones was a pilot, antique arms collector, book publisher and President of the Central Coast Veteran's Memorial Museum. He was also an experienced civil affairs/military government officer who participated in several psychological operations missions in the Philippines and the southwest Pacific. He authored the following books: "On the Trail of the Presidents;" "Ten Most Patriotic American Speeches;" "On the Trail of the Forts," and; "San Luis Obispo: The Toughest Town in the West."

With his late wife, Joy E. Jones, HPM, they formed an active presence in the Order. Earlier this year, PCINC COL Jones received a California National Guard Commendation Medal awarded to him by Companions Maj John Oberg, USAF (Ret), director of the Grizzly Academy, and CPT Richard Hathcock, USA (Fmr), then Commander, Gen Vandenberg Chapter. This award was given for continued support of youth leadership conferences conducted for the Grizzly Academy at Camp San Luis Obispo. This medal was the last medal among the many he received during a lifetime of service.

He was born in New Mexico, raised in El Paso (TX), Tucson (AZ) and Brawley (CA), graduating from high school in the latter location. He attended Compton and Whittier Colleges during which time he enlisted in the 40th Division, California National Guard. At the outbreak of the Korean War, he was sent to Ford Ord (CA) and subsequently to Officer Candidate School (OCS) at Fort Benning (GA), after which he attended and graduated from the first all-officer Ranger course. He served as platoon leader, company executive officer and infantry company commander, and various battalion staff officer positions.

GENEROSITY & KINDNESS PERSONIFIED

BRIG GEN ARTHUR B. MORRILL III, USAF (RET)
CHIEF OF STAFF, MOWW

With the greatest gratitude, The Military Order of the World Wars® is pleased to announce that PCINC Colonel James D. Elmer, USAF (Retired), and Mrs. Ruth B. Elmer, HPM, have donated $100,000 to the Military Order. This gift will be used to support Phoenician Award Essay Prizes.

Their extreme generosity is yet another example of just how selfless, kind and giving these two great Companions are. This much-appreciated gift follows their generous $6,000 contribution to the CINC Solicitation. Their donation to the CINC Solicitation made it possible for the Order to achieve its goal this year. We Companions are lucky to have them as our companions.

NORTH KOREA: GROWING IN POWER

COL JAMES T. ROBERTS, USA (RET)
SAVANNAH CHAPTER, GA

North Korea has returned to our radar through its recent missile testing activity and bellicose comments by its supreme leader. Kim Jong-un's intent may be to place the ROK and US governments on the defensive so that he will have the upper hand in any future discussions with the new ROK President, Moon Jae-in, and President Trump. Moon favors China as the intermediary over the US in reunification discussions. Kim's provocations, however, may spark active warfare. That would be a disaster for Kim. He would have little chance of victory without China's help. He is still in a state of war with the United Nations. Any aggression would break the 1953 UN cease-fire agreement and cause major support for South Korea.

Perhaps sensing a forthcoming conflict, the South Korean government, slated to take over the leadership of the ROK/US joint command this year, has requested that the US continue in that role. The US is a stable, force multiplier because of the 30,000 personnel on the ground, and its capability for rapid deployment of re-enforcements should a conflict break-out.

South Korea is rated as having the twelfth strongest armed force in the world. There are 625,000 active duty personnel backed by 2,900,000 in the reserves. The Air Force/Navy/Army have approximately 1,477 aircraft of which 406 are fighter/interceptors, 448 are various attack aircraft (latest models are the US F-15E (60), F-16C/D (118) and the upgraded F-5E (158)—plus the ROKAF FA-50 (60)). Forty F-35 fighters are on order to replace aging F-4 Phantoms. The ROKAF has nine fighter wings and several tactical/composite transport wings and other specialized units, including three Air Defense Artillery Brigades. The Army maintains a large fleet of attack and transport helicopters. Naval strength includes a helicopter carrier, 13 frigates, 12 destroyers, 18 corvettes, 15 submarines, 11 mine sweepers and 70 coastal defense craft. The Navy is transitioning to blue-water fleet. South Korea maintains a robust defense industry base.

As the Korean peninsula is 70% mountain terrain, the 500,000 strong South Korean Army (ROKA) will do the heavy work. Over the last six decades, it has refined its defense and counter-strike missions. The ROKA has three Armies. The 1st (left wing) and 3rd (right wing) Armies compose the First Operations Command and are assigned DMZ duties. The 2nd Operations Command is the Army in Reserve. Seoul, the Capitol, is defended by the Capitol Defense Command. Other commands focus on special warfare, training and doctrine, logistics, missiles, personnel and air operations. There are eight tactical Corps headquarters, 38 Divisions (20 infantry, six mechanized, eight homeland defense and four reserve, with their organic units and the following separate units:

- Brigades: 4 armor, 7 artillery, 7 engineer, 11 signal, 1 chemical, 1 air defense, 2 aviation, 1 infantry mechanized and 7 special operations.
- Groups: 2 artillery, 6 engineer, 1 signal, 2 security, 1 air defense and 6 aviation.
- Regiments: 7 special assault, 5 security and 2 special operations.

Equipment systems include: 2,654 main battle tanks (indigenous K1A1 MBT with a 120mm main gun and upgraded M-48s); 2,660 armored fighting vehicles; 1,990 self-propelled guns; 5,374 towed artillery pieces and 214 multiple-launch rocket systems.

Kim Jong-un, in April 2017, surrounded by female soldiers in a photo released by North Korea.

North Korea annually spends around one half of its budget to maintain its Army of about 700,000 active soldiers backed by a reserve of 4,500,000 men. Global Firepower ranks the NKA at number 23 of 126 nations in capabilities to fight a war. The order of battle is elusive as no listing of units is readily available.

We do know that most troops are infantry and artillery. Equipment systems include: 5,025 Soviet and Chinese tanks of various sizes and age (T-34, T-54, T-55 and T-62); 4,100 armored fighting vehicles; 2,250 self-propelled guns; 4,300 towed artillery pieces, and; 2,400 multiple-launch systems. The Army and Air Force are purported to have around 950 aircraft of all types. Of the 560 combat-capable aircraft, many were built in the 1950s-1960s (MiG-21, MiG-23 and MiG-29). As there is not a robust logistics system, much of the older equipment above may suffer maintenance and battlefield recovery problems, and will not be readily repaired in active warfighting. The Navy is reported to maintain 72-76 submarines, three frigates, two corvettes, over 400 coastal defense craft and other boats as part of its estimated fleet size of around 967.

It is estimated that the US/ROK/UN forces would be able to decimate any conventional attack by the NKA/AF/Navy within days or weeks. Therefore, any attack by the NKA would have to be swift and overwhelming to defeat the better trained and equipped South. This could be accomplished by use of air delivered VX nerve and other gases (stockpiles estimated to be 2,500-5,000 tons) to immobilize military units, air bases and command and control centers. The NKA could simultaneously utilize its cyberwarfare capability to neutralize command tactical and strategic communications and affect tactical electronic components.

The massive use of the growing NKA missile capability could allow strikes against South Korea, Japan and the US. It is estimated that the NKA has over 1,000 missiles with varying ranges. The Hwasong-5 and the Hwasong-6 Scud missiles can hit the full peninsula while the Nodong missiles can easily hit any target in the Japanese islands. The longer range Musadan missile can, under optimal conditions, hit Guam. Recent NKA launches indicate that it is working on an intercontinental ballistic missile capability that could reach the US. While the NKA missile technology is in its infancy, it will get better.

The NKA nuclear capability continues to be refined and grows. With missile technology advancement, the NKA may soon be able to field nuclear-tipped missiles. Various guesses are that the NKA has up to 30 nuclear warheads and may have the capability to build as many as five more each year. Tactically, the weapons could be used to create electromagnetic pulse (EMP) waves over South Korea to knock out critical electricity dependent equipment and computer infrastructure. Tactically, small nuclear weapons could be used to destroy military units and create massive civilian casualties. Strategically, nuclear missile use would impose a threat to the US homeland, something that the US would not tolerate.

North Korea Military Strength 2016 -2017

Source: YouTube <https://youtu.be/rZH8pPI9nOM>

The geography, international isolation, UN/ROK/US military strength, lack of a robust infrastructure to maintain warfighting, aging military leadership, and the poverty level existence of the North Korean population must give pause to the North Korean leadership in that it would be national suicide to attack South. North Korea also knows that China is in the midst of a massive military reorganization and modernization program and would take a very dim view of any shooting war. Thus, Kim Jong-un, by firing his missiles, may only be sending the message to the new Presidents of South Korea and the US that North Korea demands respect and that in any future negotiations, the ROK/US must again recognize North Korean sovereignty and military strength. ★

KANSAS SUPPORTS WWI CENTENNIAL

COL JAMES M. TOBIN, USA (RET)
COMMANDER, GREATER KANSAS CITY CHAPTER, MISSOURI

Recently, MOWW's Greater Kansas City Chapter was participating in the Court of Honor ceremony for Eagle Scouts of Lee's Summit, MO. Congressman Emanuel Cleaver (Missouri, 5th District) arrived at the Court of Honor ceremony just as the author was presenting the scouts with MOWW Recognition Certificates. After the ceremony, Congressman Cleaver invited the author and the chapter's treasurer, CAPT Roger (Jim) Davis, USCG (Ret), to represent the Military Order of the World Wars and the Greater Kansas City Chapter at the centennial commemoration of the US entry into World War I—the war that forever changed America and the world.

as ASAI Architecture) and the chief architect for the eleven-year, 1995-2006 project. Steve's design created a 160,000-square foot, comprehensive, state-of-the-art museum—including a stunning 40,000 square foot exhibit at the entrance. The overall project received national honors, including the American Institute of Architects' highest national award for "Excellence in Architectural Design." CPT Abend's invitation and attendance recognized his architectural triumph.

After the United States Congress designated the World War I Memorial and Museum at Kansas City, MO, as the official national World War I memorial and museum, it created the World War I Centennial Commission in 2013 specifically to plan, develop and execute programs, projects and activities to commemorate the centennial of World War I. The commission's mission was and is to educate the nation's citizens about the causes, courses and consequences of the war, honor the heroism and sacrifice of Americans who served during that conflict, and commemorate the Great War through public programs and initiatives.

Returning to the present, the 6 April 2017 program titled, "In Sacrifice for Liberty and Peace: Centennial Commemoration of the US Entry into World War I," to which Congressman Cleaver invited the chapter, was produced by artistic director Edward Bilous. It began with a spectacular flyover by the French Air Force, creating trails of blue, white and red smoke (the colors of France's national flag) in tribute to the US role in World War I as a member of the Allies.

A few years ago, Companions of the Greater Kansas City Chapter raised and contributed $5,000.00 for the restoration of the Liberty Memorial and the creation of the spectacular World War I Museum. Companion CPT Steve Abend (former Army Airborne officer) was partner in the architectural firm Abend Singleton Associates, Inc. (now known

The stunning French Air Force aerobatic display by the Patrouille de France was followed by the US National Anthem performed by baritone John Brancy and the 1st Infantry Division Band, Fort Riley, KS. That division, now deployed to Iraq, was formed in World War I and was then known as “The Fighting First.” Delta Battery, 1st Battalion, 129th Field Artillery Regiment Missouri Army National Guard (successors to Harry Truman’s famous “Battery D”), fired their cannons to mark the centennial of that declaration of war.

Academy Award recipient, actor, director and producer Kevin Costner narrated the opening of the ceremony. His narration took attendees, television and live-stream viewers (on C-Span) back to the time when the Great War was going on in Europe and American volunteering to fight. The sinking of the RMS Lusitania by a German Unterseeboot (U-Boat) triggered a great debate as the nation headed into the 1916 Presidential election.

The program also paid tribute to the bravery of African-American and Native-American fighters, the struggle and patriotism of immigrant Soldiers, and the significant impact on women, their standing in society and their civil rights. Noble Sissle Jr., descendant of famous early 20th century African-American jazz composer, lyricist, bandleader, singer, and playwright Noble Lee Sissle, read a text by sociologist and civil rights activist W. E. B. Du Bois, and Helen Keller’s famed “Strike Against War” speech which was an eloquent reminder of the nation’s struggle with the decision to go to war.

Representatives of Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, France, Hungary, Italy and the United Kingdom read century-old passages about their respective nations’ reactions to the US decision to enter WWI. Acting Secretary of the Army Robert M. Speer read from President Calvin Coolidge’s speech delivered on 11 November 1926, at the dedication of the Liberty Memorial in Kansas City, MO.

The ceremony finale, evoking the patriotic fervor that swept the United States despite the national debate and anxiety, was a rousing full-cast performance of the iconic “Over There,” followed by a flyover by a B-2 Spirit bomber of the 509th Bomb Wing assigned to Whiteman Air Force Base in central Missouri. ★

Editor’s Note: The Officer Review® appreciates the National World War I Museum and Memorial for permission to reprint portions of its press release as well as the photographs of the flyover by the French Air Force and the 1st Infantry Division’s cannon salute.

- a. Committee Recommendation: Adopt.
- b. Author. MOWW Financial Working Group.
- c. Current language: "The Chief of Staff shall deposit non-distributed funds into the "MOWW Endowment Fund." REF: MOWW Bylaws, Article I, Section 10.B.3).
- d. Proposed language: Change the MOWW Bylaws, Article I, Section 1, to read: "The MOWW Board of Trustees shall deposit non-distributed funds in the "MOWW Endowment Fund."
- e. Rationale. This correctly describes the responsible activity and process.

2. UPDATE THE MOWW BYLAWS BY CITING THE REQUIREMENT TO GRANT, REVOKE OR SURRENDER CHAPTER CHARTERS WHILE OUTLINING THE POLICY AND PROCEDURES FOR THE SAME IN THE MOWW POLICY MANUAL.

- a. Committee Recommendation: Adopt.
- b. Author. LTC Michael C. Wilgen, USA (Ret).
- c. Current language. "A Region, Department or Chapter charter may be granted, revoked, surrendered or, if applicable, merged with the consent of the General Staff, providing the administrative procedures contained in the MOWW Policy Handbook, Chapter XV (Charters) are followed." (MOWW Bylaws, Article III, Section 1.)
- d. Proposed Language. "A region, department or chapter charter may be granted, revoked or surrendered with the consent of the General Staff provided MOWW Policy Manual provisions for the same are followed."
- e. Rationale. Eliminates the merger language since chapters are not merged; instead, chapters are closed and individual Companions elect to reaffiliate with a different chapter, or several adjacent chapters are closed and a new one is formed. Also eliminates the specific reference to an Appendix, etc., and instead simply says "...provided MOWW Policy Manual provisions are followed." This is beneficial since the paragraph structure, Appendix "number," etc., may change for administrative purposes and such things should not necessitate changing foundational documents such as the MOWW Bylaws.

3. UPDATE THE MOWW CONSTITUTION'S LANGUAGE TO INCLUDE WHAT IS GENERALLY KNOWN AS THE "PREAMBLE TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE MILITARY ORDER OF THE WORLD WARS" SO THAT THE PREAMBLE IS PART OF THE MOWW CONSTITUTION.

- a. Committee Recommendation: Adopt.
- b. Author. Brig Gen Arthur B. Morrill III, USAF (Ret).
- c. Current language: None.
- d. Proposed language: Insert the full text of the Preamble in the MOWW Constitution as such.
- e. Rationale. The Preamble is often cited as being the Preamble to the MOWW Constitution, but it's language is not actually part of said Constitution. This rectifies that omission.

4. UPDATE THE MOWW CONSTITUTION BY CLARIFYING MATTERS CONCERNING DEPARTMENT COMMANDERS.

- a. Committee Recommendation: Adopt.
- b. Author. LTC Michael C. Wilgen, USA (Ret).
- c. Current language. "Department Commanders will be elected by the chapters and take office prior to 1 July of each year. (MOWW Constitution, Article V Officers Section 4.)
- d. Proposed language. "Department commanders with less than two chapters within their area will be appointed by the region commander and take office prior to 1 July of each year. All other department commanders, i.e., those departments with two or more chapters, will be elected by their chapters."
- e. Rationale. Supports the 2016 MOWW Convention decision to combine the offices of department commander and state commander into, simply, department commander.

Companions gathered for the 2016 MOWW National Convention participated in the business of the Order

DARE GREATLY

BRIG GEN ARTHUR B. MORRILL III, USAF (RET)
CHIEF OF STAFF, MOWW

It isn't accidental that our Military Order has existed for nearly 100 years. Our Order exists because our forebears dedicated themselves to the Order's continuance and the personal fulfillment of Companions in perpetuity. As their successors, we must be likewise dedicated. As an Order, we were founded in service in commitment to our nation and fellow Companions. When we each utter the Order's oath to join or to later hold a position of responsibility, we renew that dedication by our own personal commitment and service. That's our duty.

Organizations don't have life; they are given life by their members by their continuing participation and good works. That necessary and abiding renewal of our Order is founded on principles greater than the individual members and even the organization itself. The Order's life comes from an unrelenting desire from each of us to serve selflessly based on our common heritage of officership and in keeping with the Order's motto. Examples of this principled service abound.

PCINC CAPT Russell C. Vowinkel, USN (Ret), a Past Commander-in-Chief, continues his personal involvement as a "man in the arena" by his service as the Commander, Northern Virginia Chapter. Likewise, the late PCINC COL Jack B. Jones, USA (Ret), was consistently a top—if not the top—new member recruiter of our nationwide Order, in addition to being a highly energized Assistant Historian General. PCINC Colonel James D. Elmer, USAF (Ret), and his bride, HPM Ruth B. Elmer, also exemplify the kind, selfless service being highlighted here. There are so many other examples of great, serving Companions to emulate.

Our Order's membership is comprised of truly exceptional people—whether they are PMs, HPMs, RMs or HRMs. They all have unique talents and capabilities even as they all have different life experiences or situations. Despite these differences, there is room for every Companion to actively participate in chapter activities if not also in activities at the national level. Our Order needs each of us...our interest, our contributions and our participation.

THE MAN IN THE ARENA
(Extract from President Theodore Roosevelt's speech, "Citizenship in a Republic")

23 April 1910—Sorbonne, Paris

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat."

Theodore Roosevelt

We have so much to offer our nation—as individuals and as a group. We know from our just-concluded "Year of Membership" that we face challenges: shrinking membership, reduced participation and more. We must reverse those things for the good of the Order. To do less than that is not who we are.

This is not just a "they" issue affecting others but not each of us. Our Order's health is seen in whether or not our chapters each have a growing and increasingly participatory membership.

So...what should we do?

First we walk, then we run. We begin by working to get an increasing number of our chapters' members to attend successive chapter meetings, present ROTC and Scouting awards, and be involved in patriotic education. We develop one-page Chapter Action Plans to guide and track chapter progress. We keep it simple and measurable with gentle stretch goals, and review progress every meeting.

No one expects miracles or instant solutions to the challenges we face. However, we should expect—of ourselves—that we will make progress together. Why? Because we Americans dare greatly. ★

THE CHANGING PATIENT EXPERIENCE

CPT (DR) ROBERT E. MALLIN, USA (FMR)
SURGEON GENERAL, MOWW

Over the years, I have tried to learn several facts related to medicine, such as ... in a hospital setting, it is far better to be standing up than lying down.

Giving control of your fate to someone else is not easy or natural. While I have thankfully just come through kidney cancer surgery with flying colors and a 98% chance of being totally cured, surely my worry and detailed attitude played a big part in the same way my cat helps me compose and write articles. For me, in this setting I need to be the sole player.

But back in the day when one went to “the” doctor, he totally directed treatment—including hospital choice, location and length of stay. It seems a couple of weeks was the norm for even a baby delivery. My mother was sent home with a nurse for a few days, tales of southern farm workers going right back to the fields notwithstanding.

A surgeon was “a general surgeon,” responsible for everything, even telling the nurse just how to administer the anesthetic. Everyone who ever had “ether” remembers every second of it. Recovery rooms were unheard of. If your family could afford it, a “special nurse” was hired to take care of you for a day or two.

It may just be my memory, but when I started training in the mid-1960s, there were still no recovery rooms and often a strong whiff of alcohol around the patient room could be imagined. The surgeon’s God-like temperament was apparent and is still a cliché today.

Oh, how things have changed, and that doesn’t even count the paperwork people, and the various levels of nurses and others who all check your medical history and keep asking for your date of birth.

One certainly gets the impression all are caring and efficient. “Your” doctor, who you may have seen for an initial visit, the explanations to patient and family, and detailed consent procedures, is open and friendly. Recently, a surgeon I was seeing displayed years of “Most Compassionate Doctor in Colorado” awards on his office walls.

Lab work is complete, detailed and fully discussed. All explanations—from surgical procedures to pressure stockings and the introduction of each person involved—are pleasant experiences. Everything is positive. Indeed, if it weren’t for the “kidney cancer” part, the University of Colorado Hospital would be a fun place to hang out.

As a matter of fact, I have even opted for the first of two knee replacement procedures there soon. For me, the worry and anxiety, for good or ill, ends when I am placed in the surgery “ready room” and I completely put myself in the hands of the incredible surgery department team. For me, the team gives me more confidence than the old days when all I had was the God-like aura of a single person.

Please don’t try this at home ... and be well. ★

BLESS THE VETERANS FOR THEIR SACRIFICE

MARK HERRINGSHAW, PH.D., AND JILL HERRINGSHAW

"...Today we pray for those men and women who have, in their military service, sacrificed their time, strength, ambition, health and even their lives on this earth to benefit 'friends,' known and unknown.

Many of our warriors carry scars in their hearts as well as on their bodies. Dark memories haunt their dreams at night. Fears cloud their waking hours.... You came to give us abundant life by providing a way for us to release our pain to you.... You bore our sorrows and brokenness and when we trust you, we can exchange our wounds for your joy in a future unhindered by fate. Bring this gift now to the veterans of our nation who bear tangible and intangible wounds. Heal them....

Bless the families of soldiers who bear these pains vicariously. Give them patience and wisdom and strength to endure, and more than endure to hope in faith for a blessed life. God, not everything that happens in life is good. But you promise to work all things together for good to those who love you and align their lives with your purpose. Create good in the families of veterans who have experienced pain and loss. Do this miracle, we pray.

We honor our veterans in your name. We thank you—as we thank them—for their sacrifice. We ask you to return to them the favor of your blessing, a gift we on our own could never offer. We ask that you would give our veterans a peace beyond the peace they fought to secure, a peace in their own hearts, wrapped in the joy of a life touched by your strong hand...." ★

PTSD Treatment—New Tools

It's never too late to get treatment for PTSD. Treatment can help even if your trauma happened years ago. And treatment for PTSD has gotten much better over the years. If you tried treatment before and you're still having symptoms, it's a good idea to try again.

When you seek help, your mental health care provider can determine whether you need treatment for PTSD, or another type of treatment.

Find the Best Treatment for You

The PTSD Treatment Decision Aid is an online tool to help you learn about and compare effective treatments. You can learn about effective PTSD treatment options using our PTSD Treatment Decision Aid. It includes videos to explain how the treatments work.

You can also build a chart to compare the treatments you like most. Both psychotherapies (also called talk therapy or counseling) and medications are included in the decision aid. You can print or save a personalized summary of your goals and preferences, and share this summary with your provider at your next visit. Page link: <https://www.ptsd.va.gov/apps/decisionaid/>

Americanism: September's Patriotic Days

Patriot Day – September 11

Patriot Day, also known as the national Day of Service and Remembrance, occurs on September 11 each year in memory of those killed during the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks. Those we lost September 11, 2001, will forever hold a cherished place in our hearts in the history of our nation. By a joint resolution approved December 18, 2001 (Public Law 107-89), Congress authorized the President to designate September 11 each year as "Patriot Day" to perpetuate the memory of those who perished in the attack on America, and to pursue peace and justice in the world and security at home. Appropriate ceremonies and activities include a moment of silence beginning at 8:46 a.m. EDT, remembrance services and candlelight vigils. Flags should be flown at half-staff on Patriot Day.

POW/MIA Recognition Day – Observed Third Friday in September

POW/MIA Recognition Day honors the commitments and the sacrifices made by our nation's prisoners of war and those who are still missing in action. National POW/MIA Recognition Day is on of the six days specified by law on which the black POW/MIA flag shall be flown over federal facilities and cemeteries, post offices and military installations. Plan ahead and check with your local facilities to make sure they have a POW/MIA flag and if not, it would be a great time to make a formal presentation of the flag to the facility. POW/MIA – YOU ARE NOT FORGOTTEN.

Gold Star Mother's/Family's Day – Observed Last Sunday in September

Gold Star Mother's/Family's Day honors mothers and families who have lost a service member in combat. The name comes from the custom of families hanging Service Flags in the window of their homes. The Service Flag has a star for each family member in the armed forces. A blue star represents a family member in active service, a silver star represents a family member wounded or injured in a war zone and a gold star represents a family member killed during active-duty and stands for sacrifice made for honor and freedom. The American Gold Star Mothers, Inc. was founded shortly after World War 1 by Grace Darling Seibold who lost her son George Vaughn Seibold during the war. Gold Star Mothers are often socially active, but are non-political. Gold Star Mother's Day was designated by Congress on June 23, 1936. In September 2012, President Barack Obama rededicated the last Sunday in Sept as "Gold Star Mother's and Family's Day."
