

Geaux Queen Media was founded in 2019 with the mission of celebrating self-love, empowerment, and the achievements of women. Since then, our platform has grown into a multi-faceted media brand, incorporating The Q-Chat Podcast and Geaux Queen Magazine, along with strategic collaborations with leading networks and publications.

As our platform grows, we believe in building meaningful and mutually beneficial partnerships. Cross-promotion is a key part of ensuring that every feature provides value not only to our audience but also to the guests we highlight. By working together to share and promote features, we create greater visibility and engagement for all involved. We kindly ask that all featured guests and their publicists agree to collaborate in spreading the word about their media placement. This helps us continue offering a high-quality platform for impactful storytelling and brand visibility.
