

Sustainable Capacity Foundation

The Sustainable Capacity Foundation is a nonprofit foundation that is working to support capacity building efforts of small shop nonprofit organizations in Canada.

“Everyone wants to fund projects, but no one wants to fund what organizations really need which is help with their internal operations, administration, and capacity. That’s why the Sustainable Capacity Foundation is so valuable as a partner and funder. We want to help organizations with the real issues they are facing and provide support and resources to strengthen our sector.”

Kristina Inrig, Founder and President
