

Daniel Shai

Ascension & Transformation Coach

If you're not quite able to find your flow, your complete empowerment, and joyous success, it may be because you're still trying to bring your gifts in the old world way. The New Earth is here, and we are called to operate as our 5D selves, which means to flow in a soul-led way. We need to work as creatives, business leaders, entrepreneurs and coaches, in a manner in which we are truly tuned in to our hearts and our truth, following our God-flow moment-by-moment, rather than operating from the pressure & heaviness that come with the hustle culture and "have-to" mentality of the old 3D world. It's time to let go of that, and understand that it's time to do things your way - your soul's way. Nothing else will work now.

Common Results From God-In-Action:

External

Manifesting financial abundance by opening your channel of divine abundance. Clients regularly generate or manifest significantly more money (expected and unexpected), in alignment with their soul's integrity, authenticity, and divine timing

Brand new career or scaling existing business, as a result of getting clear and homing in on one's purpose

Habit changes, finding oneself naturally and almost effortlessly shifting into a lifestyle that gives much more energy. Destructive/unhealthy habits either die off or transform. All of this happens as a byproduct of the mind-mastery achieved in the program

Lifestyle changes and increased finances lead to many other external changes. Depending on what one's aligned desires are, they may manifest a partner, a house, friendship (finding one's tribe or soul fam)... Depends on the client and what's relevant for them where they are.

Having a regulated nervous system (This is no small thing! Nothing on this list is...)

Internal

The wonderful feeling of being in divine flow, connected, unclouded - the divine channel is open and flowing

Master of the art of reality creation, knowing how to co-create with their soul/God in a way that is so nourishing and fulfilling

Readiness to serve with joy out of the clarity of one's mission and reason for being here

Feeling in control of oneself, knowing how to work with the mind, its anxieties and worries, confusion and uncertainty. Taking charge of one's mind and energy and developing a new relationship with the body and person (self) leads to a state of relaxed confidence. Things one seemed to need before simply drop away

Feeling calmer and more relaxed than ever before, in a very alive way - love of life, love of living, love of being able to connect with and serve others, feeling supported and taken care of.

Feeling and being significantly physically healthier due to lifestyle changes, greater self-respect, self-acceptance and self-esteem, alignment of the chakra system (Affects energy flow: When chakras are balanced, it supports the proper functioning of related organs and bodily systems, boosts immunity, reduces stress, and enhances overall vitality).

Being a lot less reactive, a lot less fearful and doubtful. I mean, A LOT less. In some spiritual circles this comes at the cost of allowing one's emotions, however this couldn't be further from what this program teaches. One learns how to listen to emotions and receive their messages without dwelling, as well as learning to transform beliefs and emotions - often instantly.

Behavioral changes: Clients find that they no longer are:

People pleasing, as well as attempting to constantly save others while depleting oneself - all of that goes away.

- Afraid to set boundaries!

- Afraid of wanting what they want because "it's not spiritual" or they don't think they can have it.

- Not believing they can have what they want, as long as it's in alignment and in integrity with their being/soul.

When clients taste how it feels to move as one with the soul, they never want desires that are not soul-led.

- Lacking in confidence and centeredness. Their listening improves significantly, as they listen from a place of empowerment, and find they have so much more space for absolutely everything - from emotions (theirs and others') to people to money to relationships (yes, you need to make space for those things to enter - the ego/old programming is clouding it). As a result, relationships beautifully improve, yet some might also fall away if and when they have served their purpose, making room for new and more aligned ones.

The subconscious mind is practically unrecognizable by the end of the 90 days. The old self will look incredibly limited to you.

Feeling at ease with life, understanding the relationship between earthly self and Higher Self, understanding the paradox of being in control and surrender simultaneously (without any conflict), being fully balanced in masculine and feminine energies.

Developed intuition: Clients develop the ability to hear their soul. There is no price or value that can be placed on being able to receive guidance straight from spirit in this way.

Creating inner space creates outer space. As one settles into the truth of their being, their energy stops going out, making them magnetic. This is natural, nothing special - we have just forgotten, and became lost in an outward fixation, comparing and attempting to prove our value and worth - all of this is gone. The client understands that their worth is not a variable. The whole system calms and opens - and things begin to flow in and shift externally.

A Word About The Structure of the Program

Within the program, I share with you several tools, some of which will immediately shift you. These tools will work day & night in you to reprogram your subconscious to feel safe with the more expanded version of yourself and your life, while removing ideas, definitions and beliefs that inhibit and limit the stunning light of your soul from flowing through your earthly vessel. Inside this New Earth Manifesting Program you will have unlimited text/voice-note support from me! I can't begin to tell you how valuable this is and has been for me clients. Many of my transmissions and answers to your queries will stir a shift in you through these channels of communication, as well as, of course, our very personalized coaching sessions that we will have regularly.

On top of this, you will have some creative and fun "homework" on some of the weeks within our 12 weeks together. Even though you will have all of this support, it's important that you understand that you are the one holding the power. Meaning, if you want this program to truly bring you the results it's capable of bringing, you'll have to feel personally responsible for your transformation. If you pin it on me, it will certainly not work for you. Our salvation comes from within us, it simply cannot come from without. You will come to total clarity on this inside the program, and you will feel the relief of letting go of patterns of seeking without for salvation - many of which most of my clients did not even know they had.

So, while I am here to guide you, support you, root for you, cheer you on, help you find your path through harder moments when they arise, and celebrate your victories along the way... While I am here for you, to bring you clarity and help you implement your unique gifts and way of being into this world... It is still your responsibility to apply it all, to help yourself and be proactive in the process, and to be honest & transparent with me about what's happening for you so that I can truly serve you. Truthfully, if you have the desire for change, the commitment, and the winning character to follow through (success is just not quitting, that's all), you will succeed in this program. It has taken me 7 years to develop the program and 20 years of seeking and learning to reach the place where I can lovingly offer it to you, knowing its worth is really priceless. I will show up for you 100%. If you show up with your 100% - the program will take you into the miraculous.

I see all those whom I work with as leaders, since they are paving a brand new way of doing in the world - specifically, a way where our actions are coming out of true alignment with our truth, where we can be and feel completely our Self, where the mind doesn't control or disturb any part of our flow. If you are reading this now, there is no doubt that you are someone with a huge heart and many blessings to flow into this world. I would be honored, if we're a good fit, to work with you 🙏

▼ If you want to learn more, apply and book a call now, and I'll be very happy to share with you and answer any questions you may have. If you feel like reading a bit more about what the work exactly entails and how we reach the results, here's just a tiny taste

- In my program we use a special meditation, downloaded directly from spirit, through which we begin to build a powerful connection with spirit, specifically with the Higher Self. This meditation alone, done consistently, is enough to change one's life around 180°. It tunes one into the Kingdom of God, and dramatically decreases the influence of the external (which impresses very weakening things upon us, such as a sense of inadequacy and constant need to prove that we are enough, as one example).
- In this program, we fuse together your divine gifts that you are here to bring with a practical setup through which you can ground & flow those gifts into the world. We work on aligning your frequency with your soul, but also on creating a foundation in form to allow for practical channels through which to draw in your divine abundance. Divine abundance is one flow, really, starting in heaven (the formless), and channeling through form (earth). Lightworkers/New Earthers are called now to find the form through which to flow & ground their divine gifts.
- If you already have a form through which to ground & flow your soul's gifts, we ensure inside the program that you're doing it in a way that truly honors your soul and truly works for you. Demanding that you be a mean-lean-producing machine or "hustle, hustle, hustle" - is not the New Earth/5D/Enlightened/Soul-led/Working-for-God/Serving-the-Light way. These purely masculine approaches can and do lead to success, however success without happiness is not really success... (not the kind we're looking for, anyway). We want to create a flow where you feel SO VERY YOURSELF, not where you're trying to mimic someone else's model or act purely of what the hustle gurus say you're "supposed" to do. You can succeed merrily working at ease and in peace, while getting results that you previously didn't even think were possible. The intense pressure and sense of obligation (where work becomes a chore or a mere checklist, and the heart is forgotten) the 3D ways create is unnecessary.
- In God-In-Action you will learn how to truly align with your soul so powerfully and move only from aligned action. And this means complete balance and harmony between the masculine and feminine within you. It means you will know - and experience - that your worth is far beyond this world's assessment, and you will work from a place that doesn't chase value - but gives it from an abundant overflow. Indeed, spiritual abundance WILL translate into material abundance, and abundance in ALL areas of life.
- While tuning into to our soul so deeply makes us feel so whole and complete already, right here & now, you'll find that you still want to take action. That's because our being is inherently creative. However, the actions will start to flow from a very grounded sense of ease, and with childlike lightness and joy. Feeling inspired to take action out of total freedom from worthiness and value issues means stepping into the natural leadership that comes with daring to do things in your own unique way. This path does require courage, and I do not guarantee you will not have any freak outs. This is why committing to change is SO important - so we don't let our little egos talk ourselves out of our transformation process when it gets uncomfortable. We will ensure that you are empowered and equipped to move through challenging moments, and that you reach a state where you are clear on your truth and move out of it and nothing else. Your truth, the way it moves through you - IS the way to all of your success and fulfillment. You will get clear on what that is in this 1-on-1 program with me. succeed move from your total truth. This will make all of your actions more impactful, packed with service, purity, sincerity, wholeness, freedom, love, joy and compassion. All of this will come back to you tenfold.

At this time, working for God, serving the light, is the way to our abundance. Earthly abundance and divine abundance are no longer separate (never were, it was a distortion of the matrix that, for example, spirituality and business don't mix). Working by pushing, forcing, hustling... is not making us happy. Working from absolute alignment... is where our YES lies, and with it, all the divine blessings that await us. We are meant to feel truly fulfilled, while channeling divine value (heaven into the world (earth) and helping others in ways that feel so amazing both to you and to those you are here to serve.

Question is... Are you ready for change? Are you ready to have ease and flow and abundance? Are you ready to have God send you those whom you are meant to serve? Are you ready to receive your divine abundance?

▼ ✨ About Me

I was always an old soul in a young body. I never belonged, never fit in. To find peace in this demanding world, where you rarely feel safe and enough, I had to go inwards. I journeyed to find enlightenment in the depths of myself, but also in the world, in monasteries in Nepal, ashrams in India, with different teachers and communities in the US and UK, in deep and profound books like A Course In Miracles, the work of Gurdjieff and so so so much more.

There came a point 8 years ago, where I found myself in a "Do-Or-Die" situation: I had to get out of where I was! It's amazing how powerful we are when we don't have a choice but to focus all of our power in one direction. I had decided dying is not an option; I will manifest a brand new life, to vibrate so differently that I would be a match to a totally different environment. Within about 12 weeks, I managed to "teleport" myself from that location to a brand new one. That required that I manifest money for a new life - mind you, I didn't even have a bank account at the time! It required that I generate the means to have my own place (was living under someone else's roof at the time), a car, and start to build a life I adore and love to live. Seeking peace inwardly was not enough - the world of form was not going to allow me to neglect it. My soul was calling powerfully, telling me we didn't come here to just ignore this place, but to bring in and channel the divine essence into this place, to create Heaven on Earth. I needed, therefore, to create a life in which that peace of God I had found within (but wasn't consistent) extended into every aspect of my life, a life where the inner and outer are not in such conflict.

As the external began taking the structure that could channel my soul/God through, I began to feel the serenity and beauty, love and joy, consistently. It began to bleed into every aspect of my life. I'm not "done" by any means, it's always an ongoing, ever-deepening unfolding. But I discovered that we are a channel that either flows or blocks divine abundance, as the Kabbalists and many other traditions teach. I learned how to expand that channel, to flow more divine energy into the world, which translates into more abundance in every area of our lives. This requires us to really and truly live from our souls, to work for God, to serve the light. What you give the light - the light will give you back tenfold.

It's my authentic passion (and I mean that word with every fiber of my being) to help my family of lightworkers step into their full power here. Sometimes it's difficult to deal with the 3D world, or to understand how we can operate in a 5D high-frequency flow within this matrix and its limitations. I've been learning for many many years not only about God and existence and the kingdom, but how to co-operate with it in a way that blesses our earthly life, that nourishes us financially and in all other aspects. We must ground our spiritual gifts without self-sacrifice, draining ourselves, feeling undervalued and underappreciated. Balance between giving and receiving, where they become one powerful flow. As this flow builds momentum, our abundance just increases and increases. Co-creating with God, living your purpose, is a way to manifest miracles. The 3D logical way can succeed, surely, but it cannot give anywhere near the same level of fulfillment, happiness, and sense of wholeness and peace.

Part of what qualifies me to help my brothers and sisters powerfully align with their souls and ground their missions, is that I can actually speak with/hear your soul. The way I work, however, is not simply channeling messages to you, but allowing you to develop this skill of communicating and consulting with your soul. This is a skill is invaluable in helping us navigate through times of intensity, change, and confusion, enabling us to get clear on the right action, and not be confused by the 3D mind. We all will have in the days to come, and you just might have it very very soon...
