

Paula Treick DeBoard

On March 27th local author Paula Treick DeBoard came to the Ripon Library to discuss her newest book, Here We Lie. This is the former Ripon High teacher's fourth novel and, as it turns out, a very timely one.

Paula did not discuss the details of the book because many in the audience hadn't read it yet, but she shared her background with us along with the process she went through to write it.

Paula read several passages from Here We Lie and finished the evening by reading an excerpt from her unfinished book to be published soon. Like her other novels it sounds like a great read!

