

From Our President

NCMA JAX Team,

To serve NCMA Jacksonville is a distinct honor and as we get ready to install the chapter officers for the new year, I would like to take a moment to thank the Executive Council for their involvement and continued support of our mission. Serving as a chapter leader is a rewarding experience that requires dedication. On June 28th at our regularly scheduled Executive Council meeting the chapter will install the new officers. We are honored to have our very own Wanda Wallace perform the appointments. Wanda is on the NCMA Membership Engagement Committee and what a great way to engage!

NCMA is a principle-based organization that has a published ethics standard. One section of this standard lists NCMA's "Guiding Principles." There are nine (9) principles, all of which are purposeful, but the principle of

'professionalism' is one I'd like to highlight:

Professionalism

Members educate themselves on all aspects of the contract management profession and apply this knowledge to the best of their ability to serve their employers, customers, clients, business partners, and the public. Members stay up to date on developments in the contract management field to maintain their knowledge, skill, and level of professional competence. Members make only truthful claims concerning their professional qualifications, education, certification status, or experience.

NCMA Jacksonville is here to assist you in becoming the best contracts professional you can be. Take advantage of our resources, your associations within the chapter, the programming that is available and the certification programs that we promote. I asked last month to "reflect on the past year and please submit any recommendations for the next programming year". Please do and be an active part of your professional development by contributing recommendations.

You can read more about the other eight (8) principles of the ethics standard on the NCMA HQ website at <https://www.ncmahq.org/Web/Web/About/Leadership/Code-of-Ethics.aspx?hkey=b4fda743-1ea3-428d-a139-a51be5994134>.

As a final note, our 40th Anniversary celebration is set for August. I hope you are planning to attend this special event. More details will be coming forward soonest.

Chapter President

NCMA JAX Officer Spotlight: Mike Scuteri, President, CFCM

Mike Scuteri proudly serves as the NCMA Jacksonville Chapter President and has in the past served as the Programs Chair and Secretary beginning his journey with the Jacksonville Chapter in 2017. Thankful to be introduced to NCMA JAX by his co-worker, Sharon Baris. He strongly believes that professional organizations like NCMA make a positive impact on a contract manager's career progression. Mike enjoys serving with the other members who also are striving to make NCMA JAX the best possible membership experience, making new professional relationships, and believes that NCMA is the "backbone" to the contract management profession.

He currently serves as the Director of Contract Administration at Crowley Maritime Headquarters in Jacksonville, Florida. He is responsible for overall contract administration for federal contracts and subcontracts that support a wide variety of contracts engaged in supply chain solutions, transportation, energy, maritime and international operations. Army Sustainment Command - Team LOGCAP Forward - Afghanistan Graphic.

Mike is a retired Army Officer that served 24 years active duty. Since 2001 he served in the career field of Acquisition Management and Contract Management. A few of his notable roles in service included LOGCAP Deputy Program Director – Afghanistan, Executive Officer LOGCPA Program Office Rock Island, Commander, Army Contracting Command – Kuwait, and Branch Chief Army Contracting Command Rock Island.

His education includes two masters degrees. One from Eastern Illinois University in Education and another from Naval Post Graduate School in Program/Contract Management. His bachelor's degree is from Illinois Wesleyan University. He is DAWIA Level III in Contract Management and Level II in Program Management and is a Certified Federal Contracts Manager, with aspirations of more certifications in the near future. Mike's hobbies include collecting unique things of interest, travel, treasure hunting, and family life.

Mike formed a small business in the tiny town of Tampico, IL (the birthplace of Ronald Reagan) and operated by his brother-in-law and sister. It closed when he moved to Florida, leaving behind many good memories and good times at Tampico General Trading Company's General Store and Market. He is married to his supportive wife of 16 years (Helen) and they have two children (Vivian 15 and Sean 13). They reside in St Johns, Florida.
