

From Our President

Hello, NCMA JAX members!

The holiday season is here; hard to believe we have nearly finished another year. Please plan on attending our holiday event in December at the Law Offices of James Krause...thank you, Jim and team! We are all looking forward to getting together as it has been some time. We intend to be safe at this social event and we encourage social distancing and masks are optional.

NCMA Headquarters is hosting the Government Contract Management Symposium (GCMS) in Washington D.C. on December 2-3. We are honored to have Wanda Wallace, Mike Scuteri and Kat Moorman able to attend and accept another Chapter Excellence Award. Thank you everyone for your contributions in making our chapter strong. Registration is open for the GCMS which is held both virtually and in-person at the Omni Shoreham in Washington DC! fortunate to have a growing membership that understands this key element and continues to work to encourage new members to join. Membership in contracting's premier professional organization is expected of all professionals. It is important to support the advancement of the contracting profession and becoming a member of the NCMA is a critical piece of that advancement.

Think about your involvement as the year winds down please take some time to reflect on your NCMA JAX experience. Were you afforded the opportunity to network with other colleagues, make new connections with others who have similar interests, and associate with senior members of the contracting profession and learn from them. If not please let us know, joining a professional organization like NCMA is critical in keeping abreast of the latest contracting knowledge and practices locally, regionally, and globally. Our programming is a main part of this and your advice is welcomed. I would also encourage you to become an "active participant", we have many opportunities to do so ranging from hosting a webinar, supporting the holiday social, or engaging on our capstone event in May at UNF. When you are active you will be rewarded in return with things like personal fulfillment, professional enrichment, and building a stronger resume as a result.

In closing, like I said last month get to know your fellow members - networking is one of the many reasons you joined NCMA JAX. Please encourage collaboration, commitment, and community to get the most out of your NCMA experience. Feel free to provide advice or recommendations any time. All the way with NCMA!
