Please be aware that the city is repaving the street in front of the church. You will need to park in the south lot and enter through the south Gathering Hall doors for tonight's activities. The work should be completed this week. Sorry for the inconvenience.

Amen Corner!

What is stewardship? Many of us might think that Stewardship is property management, debt reduction, or perhaps a building campaign. Stewardship can also be environmental protection, energy conservation, fiscal responsibility, societal responsibility, capital management, cultivating seeds into plants and fruits, and maintaining value of property.

Stewardship within the church can look like paying a tithe, giving a tenth of everything you own. Stewardship can look like living simply with frugality in mind, sharing your excess with others. Stewardship might be providing special care for the marginalized, and spreading the Gospel. The idea of Biblical stewardship ultimately begins with an understanding that God owns everything. Everything seen and unseen belongs to God. So at the center of our stewardship, we might remember that we are managing something that belongs to someone else.

My house? While I am paying the mortgage, it doesn't really belong to me. One day it will belong to someone else. So it is my job to keep the rain out, to mend the things that are broken and keep the place until it is someone else's turn. Likewise, the church and its ministries do not belong to you or me. These belong to God, and they belong to God's future and the future of Duncan. We have a responsibility to hold in trust these resources, to care for them, and prepare to pass them on to others.

One thing that I am excited about is the volunteer work done by our Property Team. In the last several weeks we have disposed of storage boxes, removed things that haven't been utilized and done a fair job of cleaning up what needed to be dusted off. Thanks to all our volunteers that help our church look good and mitigate fire hazards.

Many Blessings, Rev. John Wheeler
