Types of Life Insurance

- Term insurance is often considered the lowest-costing life insurance, and if your insurance need is only temporary, this may be true. Term insurance premiums stay the same for only a limited number of years, however, and increases in premiums can be substantial as you age. Term insurance generally does not offer the opportunity to accumulate cash value.
- Whole Life insurance offers guaranteed level premiums,¹ death benefit and cash value. Policy values have the potential to be enhanced through dividends² paid by the insurance company.
- Fixed Universal life insurance offers a flexible premium with an adjustable death benefit^{3,4} and credits a fixed interest rate to the cash value within the policy.
- Indexed Universal life insurance offers premium flexibility and an adjustable death benefit with the ability to earn interest based in part on the change in value of a major market or custom index, without directly participating in the markets.
- Variable Universal life insurance offers premium and death benefit flexibility and offers the potential for securities market-type returns on the policy's cash values.

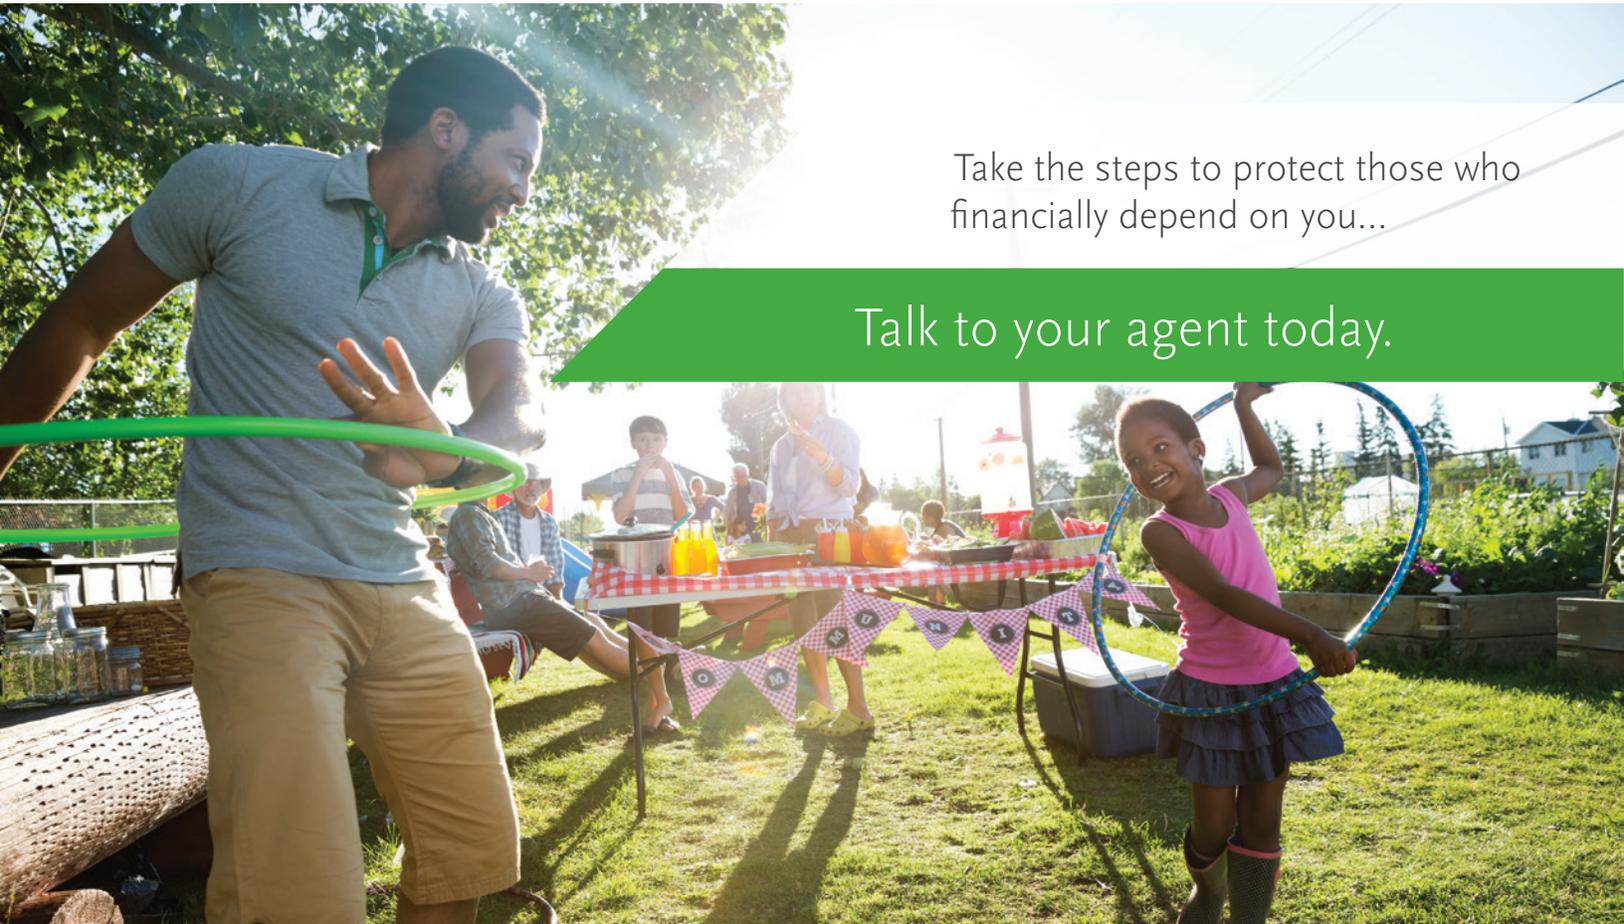

Living Benefits

Optional Accelerated Benefit Riders (ABRs),⁵ offered at no-additional cost, can provide access to your death benefit during your lifetime, in the event of a qualifying Terminal, Chronic, Critical Illness or Critical Injury.

These riders are available on most of our life insurance offerings. If you have a term policy and decide to convert to permanent coverage, your ABRs may be converted as well.

Once you meet the eligibility to accelerate your death benefit, there are no restrictions on how you use ABR proceeds (except in MA)⁶ and may be used for any expense, including:

- Medical expenses
- Home renovations
- Additional Care
- Business Expenses

1 Guarantees are depended upon the claims-paying ability of the issuing company.

2 Dividends are not guaranteed.

3 An increase in coverage may require additional underwriting.

4 It is possible that coverage will expire when either no premiums are paid following the initial premium, or subsequent premiums are insufficient to continue coverage.

5 Payment of Accelerated Benefits will reduce the Cash Value and Death Benefit otherwise payable under the policy. Receipt of Accelerated Benefits may be a taxable event and may affect your eligibility for public assistance programs. Please consult your personal tax advisor to determine the tax status of any benefits paid under this rider and with social service agencies concerning how receipt of such a payment will affect you, your spouse and your family's eligibility for public assistance. Riders are optional and may not be available in all states or on all products. Any claim for critical illness or critical injury benefits for a given Qualifying Event must be filed within 365 days following the occurrence of such Qualifying Event.

6 The uses of ABR benefits are not limited with the exception that ABR proceeds for chronic illness in the state of Massachusetts can only be used to pay for expenses incurred for Qualified Long-Term Care services. Qualified Long-Term Care services are defined as the necessary diagnostic, preventative, therapeutic, curing, treating, mitigating and rehabilitative services, and maintenance or personal care service that are required by a chronically ill individual and are provided pursuant to a plan of care prescribed by a licensed health care practitioner.

7 Unlike a traditional universal life (UL), the policyowner may receive zero interest on their cash value allocated to the indexed account if the index performs poorly. However, with most designs, the premiums are protected and guaranteed to grow over time, and the owner of an indexed universal life (IUL) may experience better interest crediting than a traditional UL during periods when the market performs well. IULs do not directly participate in any stock or equity investments. Most IULs permit owners to participate in only a stated percentage of an increase in an index, and also impose a "cap rate" that represents the maximum annual account value percentage increase allowed to policy owners. IULs typically do not provide for participation in the dividends accumulated on the securities represented by the index. An investment cannot be made directly into an index.

8 Policy loans and withdrawals reduce the policy's cash value and death benefit and may result in a taxable event. Surrender charges may reduce the policy's cash value in early years.

9 Variable life insurance contract holders are subject to investment risks, including the possible loss of principal invested. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate with market conditions so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost.
