

Welcome!

TURBO BOOST!!

Hello & welcome to our fluffle of funny bunnies!

Are you ready for a hopping good time?!

Then, get ready to race!

There are five special letters (A-E-I-O-U), that are called vowels. Can you say vowels? Every word requires at least one of these letters (or sometimes a Y, which isn't a vowel, but sometimes acts like one!).

These special letters are hidden all over the grocery store! Find words that start with these letters and you get a TURBO BOOST! Your shopping cart will have extra power to go extra fast-just for a second!

1) When you get home, keep the fun rolling by drawing a circle around the vowels in the words on the funsheet (no worksheets here!).

Let us know how it goes at #behoppy, and let's all make the world a hoppier place!

Love,

Tips

TURBO BOOST!!

Our games are designed for ages 2-9. Obviously that's quite a range! So, a few tips on how to make the game successful for everyone and every ability in your family!

1) Play at your child's level. Our older children might find the words and vowels, but then we reinforce the concept by showing our two year old. Or, we might find the letters on behalf of our two year old and show her what we're looking for. She picks it up but mostly is excited to play the game and hang out with us.

2) This game is a little less involved than some of our other games. This one is pretty straightforward. Find a vowel, get a turbo boost!

But, along the way, you could reenforce the sounds of different letters. What are the different sounds "A" makes in airplane versus apple?

What happens if you have two Es in a row? What sound does it make? What about two Os?

You could ask your kids if other letters are vowels and talk about the sounds other letters make, too. It doesn't have to be limited to vowels, but it's a great jumping of point and manageable enough for a grocery game!

3) Follow your children's interests. Our son, for example loves math. He'd count how many vowels he gets and make it a competition with his sisters. Give it a try! How many vowels can you find? Who can find the most?

4) Use the speedometer to talk about numbers. How fast can you go? Show your child how to skip count by 10? What's the fastest speed? Slowest? Let your child choose how powerful the turbo boost is by showing you the numbers on the speedometer!

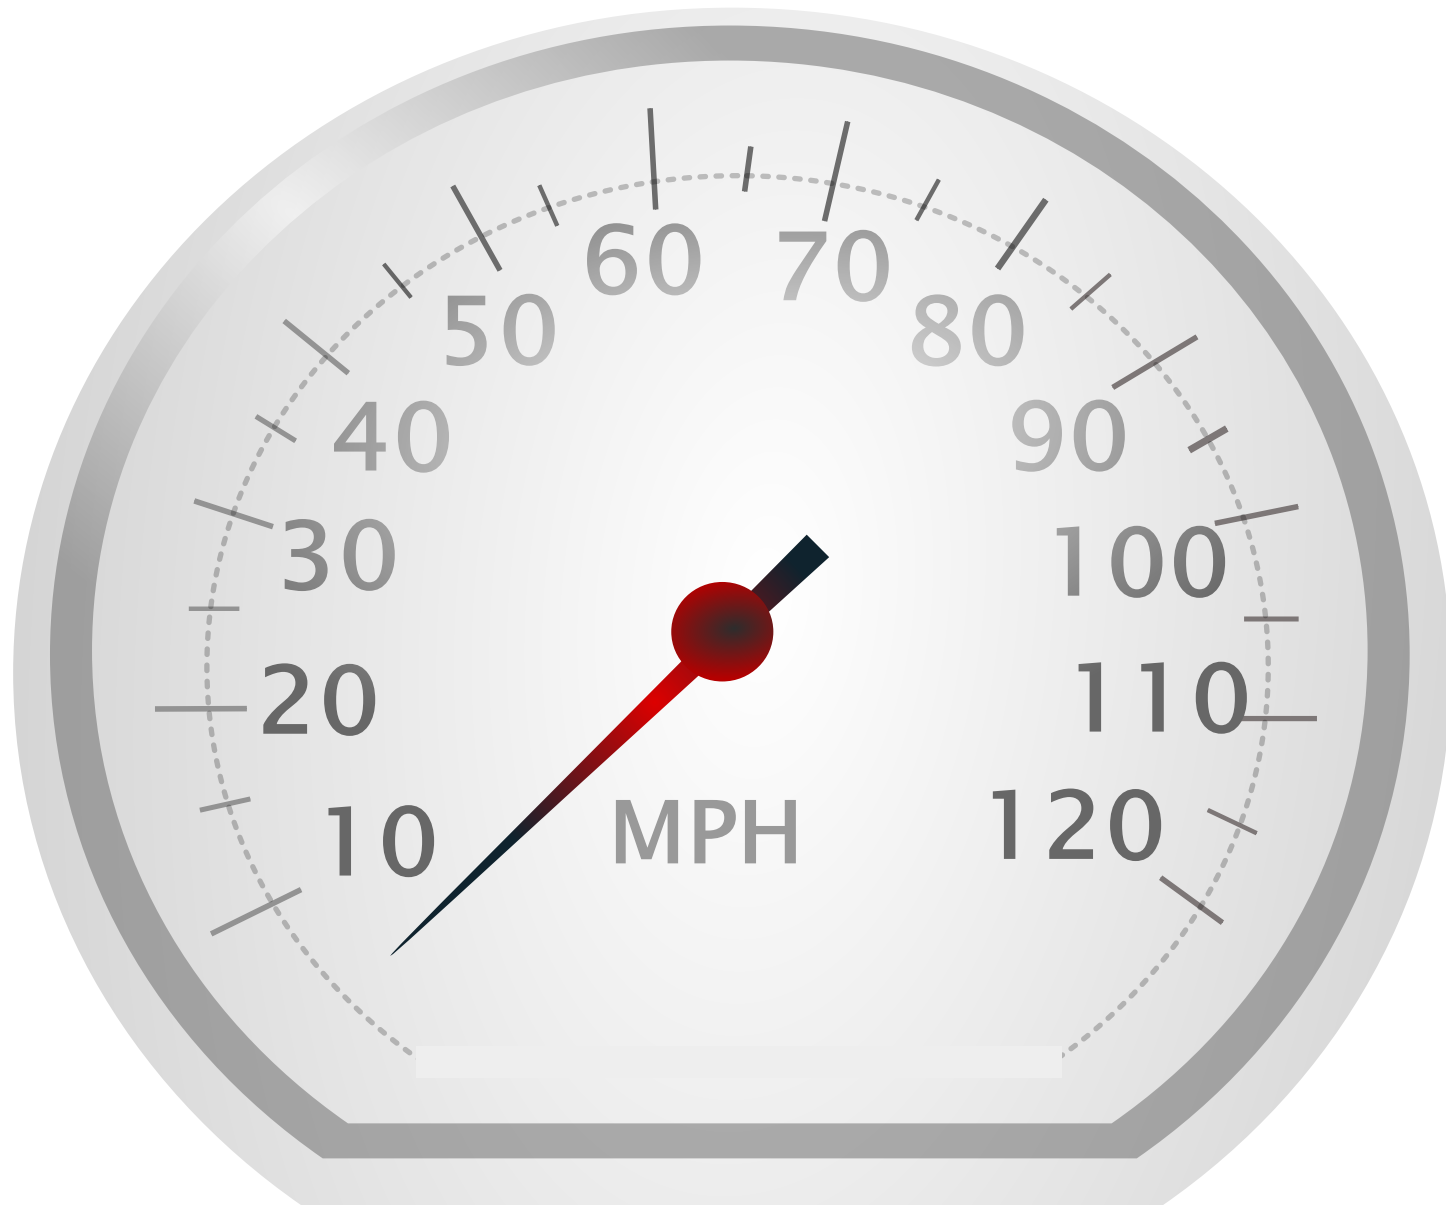

Have a hopping good time!
