Resurrecting Hope: An Easter Message

April 16, 2019

I walk through the world, opening myself up to the daily vagaries of life's unanticipated joy and sorrows. I find myself grateful for a faith that orients itself around one foundational belief: resurrection.

Death did not destroy Jesus. That is my grounding fundament. Like every disciple of the risen Christ, I hear and take to heart the words of Paul who wrote that because of Him "we do not grieve as others who have no hope." (1 Thess. 4.13).

To be sure, we grieve.

We worry.

We fear.

We grow anxious.

We are not immune from any of these powerful and life-altering emotions. In the face of what life can throw our way, we too will succumb to experiences that mitigate our joy. Death, disease, hunger, poverty, injustice, fear, warfare, oppression, famine, natural disaster, climate disruption, political crisis, mass shootings all have their way with us.

They consume our attention.

They steal our joy.

They strip us of some of the happiness and pleasure that would otherwise be ours but for the sufferings we endure in their presence and aftermath.

There is one thing, though, they cannot do: destroy our hope.

The simple belief that death did not contain Jesus grounds us firmly in the horizons of hope. It is perhaps the singular vocational responsibility of the Church, the Living Body of Christ: to procure hope in the face of life's most disruptive and destructive forces.

The simple belief that death did not contain Jesus grounds us firmly in the horizons of hope.

Hope calls us to play the long game.

The long game of hope believes that the wars in Yemen and Syria can end.

The long game of hope believes that peace between Israel and Palestine can come.

The long game of hope believes that our children and grandchildren will again breathe clean air.

The long game of hope believes that the immigrant and the refugee, the strangers and aliens in our midst, will find a new home and be greeted with hospitality and freed from the cages they've been placed in.

The long game of hope believes that entire cities in Zimbabwe and Mozambique and farms in the Midwest destroyed by floods can be rebuilt.

The long game of hope believes that colonial empires can see more joy in restoring equity through reparations than in hoarding wealth accumulated on the backs of enslaved black bodies and displaced indigenous communities.

The long game does not see death as our destiny. It believes that though suffering may endure for the night, joy cometh in the morning. Some new dawns may not arrive as early as others, but we do not lose hope that new dawns are ever before us.

This is where my Easter joy is found: the orientation of hope. It is found in the beating heart of every disciple of Jesus who, once again, will rehearse the remarkable story of his rising from the dead. The miracle of hope in the heart is my Easter joy.

May it be yours as well.

John C. Dorhauer

General Minister and President UCC

Pastor's Corner

My Dear Warwickians,

I am so grateful for my time for you and so honored by our time together this past Sunday. It has been such an honor to 'equip you for good works' with my colleagues, James and Rudy and with you the congregants of this amazing church. I will always hold you in my heart with deep affection.

Our mailing address is 12201 Stonebridge Lane, Apartment 103, Chester, Virginia 23836. When Kathy retires in June, we will be relocating to the Danville area, to be close to family and do the work of Camp Selah.

As always, I covet your prayers and promise you mine.

Grace Always,

Sallye

A Message From Rev. James

Dear Friends,

It is my great joy to let you know that Warwick UCC is a 2019 recipient of the Calvin Institute of Christian Worship's Vital Worship Grant. We are one of five UCC churches receiving a grant this year. These grants are designed to deepen congregations' understanding of worship and to strengthen the way we worship. Our project for this grant is called "Behold the Beauty of the Lord:

Integrating the Arts Into Worship." The Liturgy & the Arts POP will be working on this project throughout the year "to fully integrate the arts in the worship life of the church through collaboration among liturgists, musicians, and visual artists, in order to express and embody the attributes of God and the identity of worshipers' as God's beloved people." Throughout Lent and Easter you have no doubt experienced the richness of the arts in worship at Warwick - the choir's beautiful Easter cantata, the wonderful banners, empty tomb, and risen Christ created by Lynda G., Sue Howell, Liz Wilson, Linda Manning, and others, innovative music composed by Nate Masters, and more. The work of this project will be to integrate all of these art forms and more into a unified whole, to draw us deeper into our experience of God in worship. I look forward to sharing more details in the coming days about this exciting opportunity.

Grace and Peace,

Rev. James

Vital Worship Grants Program 2019

Worshiping Communities awarded Vital Worship Grants for 2019 by the Calvin Institute of Christian Worship

The Calvin Institute of Christian Worship announced today that it will fund 51 Vital Worship Grants projects to Worshiping Communities for 2019-2020 as part of its Vital Worship Grants Program.

These projects have a variety of emphases—visual arts, storytelling, multicultural worship, digital media, the Lord's Supper, and more—but have as a common purpose a desire to both deepen people's understanding of worship and strengthen practices of public worship and faith formation.

Kathy Smith, leader of the Vital Worship Grants Team, said, "We are delighted to join with another group of churches, schools and organizations to learn about and engage in new practices of worship. We were grateful for a large number of excellent proposals and are eager to facilitate their learning and ours, regarding worship across North America."

This year's recipients include 34 congregations, three elementary and/or secondary schools, two colleges and universities, three seminaries, and nine other groups, including five church collaboratives, two parachurch disability ministries, a military ministry, and a storytelling ministry. They also represent 23 different Christian denominations, 22 states and two Canadian provinces.

Each grant (ranging from $7,000 to $18,000) will fund a year-long project beginning in June that promotes vital worship and faith formation. John Witvliet, director of the CICW, believes that the 2019 projects will help the Worship Institute in its goals to enhance the scholarly study of Christian worship and the renewal of worshiping communities across North America and beyond.

"We learn a tremendous amount from these programs," he said. "We look forward to sharing insights from these projects with a larger audience in our future programming over the next several years."

This June, project directors and representatives of all 51 grants will gather on Calvin's campus to dialogue not only with CICW staff, but also with 14 recipients of new grants to Teacher-Scholars as well as recipients the 2018 Worshiping Communities grants, who will come to campus to share the results of their year-long projects at a poster session that is open to the public (5:00-6:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 26, 2019).

"The grants event is always an energizing time of conversation and sharing stories," said Smith. "Every year, some attendees are inspired to write their own proposals for new grant projects. We look forward to receiving those applications for the next round of grants" (due January 10, 2020).

Since it began in the year 2000, the Vital Worship Grants Program has now awarded 887 grants to churches, schools and organizations across North America for projects that generate thoughtfulness and energy for public worship and faith formation at the local, grass-roots level. An advisory board of pastors and teachers from a variety of backgrounds assists in the grant selections, and the program is generously supported by Indianapolis-based Lilly Endowment Inc. Founded in 1937, the Endowment's major areas of programming are religion, education, and community development.

For more information on the grants program, including a complete list of this year's grants recipients, please see worship.calvin.edu/grants.

Johns River Valley Camp is an outdoor ministry site of Southern Conference, United Church of Christ. Grades are rising (Fall 2019) levels.

In 2019, utilizing the curriculum Peace Works: Empowering the Next Generation of Peace Makers, the program will invite campers to learn how to seek peace and justice in their lives and relationships. Our hope is that they leave camp feeling empowered to pursue these lofty goals.

Our Mission Camps in particular urge participants to consider the biblical calling upon our lives to do works of justice and to consider our connections to all of Creation.

Off-site trips are identified in camp program descriptions and follow-up material. Junior campers enjoy hikes on adjacent National Forest Lands, but do not at this level visit more distant destinations requiring vehicle transportation.

A limited number of partial scholarships based on need are available. Inquire with camp for further information.

Site location: 6211 Hwy 90, Collettsville, NC 28611.

Youth Mission Camps

Nestled in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, Johns River Valley Camp offers an ideal setting in which youth and adults can team together to address poverty and environmental issues. Our programs are designed to deepen one's sense of connection to God's world and the people in it. Middle and Senior High Campers will also be given a day off for an off-site activity of tubing on the New River or biking on the Virginia Creeper Trail. Evenings will provide options that include rock climbing, tubing, community building and archery. Team leaders not only offer direction for what we do but insight into why we do it.

June 9-15: Youth Mission Camp I

Projects for this week include home repairs, handicap ramp building, volunteering in the kitchen of a ministry committed to providing healthy food to all people regardless of means and more. On Wednesday the group will take a break and hike the scenic Virginia Creeper Trail. $460.00 grades 7-12 (Main site)

July 21-July 27: Youth Mission Camp II

Projects include handicap ramp building, home repairs, environmental protection projects, volunteer in local ministry to the impoverished and more. Participants will take a break on Wednesday and enjoy tubing on the New River. $460.00 grades 7-12 (Main site)

New Camps ★★★★★

June 23-29: Bridge Builders (Grades 7-12)

A unique opportunity is being offered for the first time. A racially diverse group of youth will be invited into conversations around race. The first three days will be spent at Franklinton Center at Bricks. Wednesday will be a travel day to JRVC. While at JRVC the group will continue conversation and participate in service projects in the local area. Cost $460.00 (Co-Directed by Elivette Mendez Angulo and Phil Hardy)

July 7-13: Pathfinders (Grades 7-12)

This camp, which is being offered for the very first time, will be housed on the main site. Campers will take several day trips to be immersed in the nearby hiking trails, streams, rivers and water falls of the Appalachian mountains. A mid-week service project will allow campers to practice stewardship of Creation. This camp's objective is to take campers back to nature and an appreciation of it. Cost is $440.00. (Directed by Rebecca Wrights)

Round Table Rendezvous

Three age groups(See below) share the grounds and meals. This camping experience lends itself to building "big/little sister/brother" relationships. Age specific activities apply as indicated.

June 30-July 6: Junior Age (Grades 4-6)

Camping on the main site these campers will enjoy aquatics, hikes, archery, rock climbing, games, campfires and more. Cost is $430.00. (Directed by Samantha Jones)

June 30-July 6: Middle High (Grades 7-9)

Camping on the main site these campers will participate in three bike trips highlighted by a trip on the downhill section of the Virginia Creeper Trail in Damascus, VA. If possible, they are encouraged to bring their own bikes and helmets although those will be provided on the Virginia Creeper Trail. They also will enjoy aquatics, archery, canoeing, rock climbing, games, campfires and more. Cost is $460.00. (Directed by Phil Hardy)

June 30-July 6: Senior High (Grades 10-12)

These campers will stay on the main site. They will explore their own gifts, build community among a diverse group of young people and discover new ways to recognize God in creation. Their experiences will include aquatics, archery, canoeing, rock climbing, games, campfires and more. The week will also include the biking trip on the Virginia Creeper Trail in Damascus. Cost is $460.00. (Directed by Jason Stump)

Classic Camps

July 7-13 Middle High Outpost/Caving (Grades 7-9)

Campers live in A-Frame units away from the main site enough to truly enjoy an experience in the woods. This week features a canoe trip, hike to waterfall and rock wall climbing. The high point of the week is a memorable caving experience. Cost is $460.00 (Co-Directed by Elizabeth Schiemann and Lucy Bennett)

July 14-20 Junior Age Classic (Grades 4-6)

While staying on the main site these campers enjoy all the traditional camping activities. They will learn and grow through aquatics, hikes, archery, crafts, rock climbing, games, vespers, campfires and more. Cost is $440.00. (Directed by Rev. Randy Orwig)

July 14-17 Beginners (Grade 3)

These first-time campers will stay on the main site and be introduced to the experiences of JRVC. Their days will be filled with aquatics, games, crafts, hikes, stories, vespers and campfires. This is a great way to get the next generation of campers started. Cost is $250.00. (Directed by Elizabeth Horton)

July 21-27 Senior High Outpost/Adventure (Grades 10-12)

These campers are challenged toward growth and community building. Their high adventure activities will include white water rafting on the Nolichucky River and off-site rock climbing in Pisgah National Forest. Cost is $500.00. (Directed by Kevin Russell)
