

October 2020

It's rare to find a sales professional who delivers such a high-level of customer service and commitment that you sometimes forget she is not working for your own company. Over the past 7 years, this has been my personal experience with Amy. She always took full accountability, went the extra mile and worked tirelessly to make sure my projects were successful. I appreciate her straight-forward, honest communication style and her organizational skills are first rate. She's uniquely outstanding in her field.

John Carreno, VP IT, Operations and Infrastructure

Relationship to Amy: Former Customer at Windstream and CenturyLink