Amy is always in passionate pursuit of her customer's outcomes. She strives to understand her customers and their goals and works to help them get there. She is driven, thorough and always focused on how she can be a trusted partner to help enable business and build long-term relationships.

I would highly recommend her for any field sales position and I am confident she will do anything in her power to grow and develop business in her customer base.

It was a privilege to work with her at NetApp and I know she will be a key contributor in any role she takes.
