Field CTO, Global Strategy and Technology Office at NetApp, Inc
August 2, 2024, Matthew worked with Amy but on different teams

Amy's unique value to the technical sale is the passion to solve the customer's problem. Although it seems cliché in today's world, she really LISTENS. Throughout my experiences and many customer meetings with her, she has always maintained the highest level of professionalism, care and commitment to the cause at hand - the customer and their priorities. I would recommend Amy to any technology organization looking to find a difference-maker in their sales organization. She is that.
