

Eternal Blues

You told me once that I was pretty
You told me twice that I looked good
You told me three times I was your lady
That's three times more than you should

You told me once you liked my kisses
You told me twice that you were bad news
You told me three wishes mean nothin
When you're stuck with a case of the Eternal Blues

You told me once you felt the music
You told me how it soothed your soul
I watched you try two sides of the same coin
She's like disco and I'm rock n' roll

You asked me once to run away with you
Told me bout how you grew up poor
I told you people fall in love by accident
Told you falling in love was like fighting a war
No one comes back the same
No one comes back the same

No one comes back the same
