

Conscientiousness & Consciousness Quotient

- The circus is soon to be over, thanks to great world leaders

There seems to be a rhythm driven by society. It can be the time of the hour, climate related issues or an economic driven factor which is again driven by regulations regarding rules and settlements at your work place. Like when is your salary coming or when you have to be at work. The world economy basically rules it all, in short terms.

These 'settlements' (which of course you choose yourself, when it comes to how you want to live your life) basically control your life. You will probably spend more than  $\frac{1}{3}$  of your life on work, because you need money to live a normal life. Quite easy. You can rig the system or the rules you have to follow, or break the law to do it..

The main factor though, is wave functions. What resonates with what. You can easily involve metaphysics into this subject. And lifehacks have done the job of wellbeing for many. Unfortunately on behalf of fellow beings.

Question: Is it God that gives you a test of how you will tolerate stress, and is God involved?

Example one: You are at work, and there are a percentage of 50% more customers than average at the exact same timeline. You have to deal with it alone because five minutes later, everyone has gotten their agenda done.

Example two: Your boss (leader) seems mad. You think that your leader is mad because of you and what you have possibly done 'wrong'. But your leader is mad because that person has not got laid for quite a time. And this is because their spouse has fallen and has broken a leg. Which makes their husband or wife in a bad mood.

To find answers like what is searched for, as in this document, will come. Most likely only if human beings change their behavior and psychology. And it probably will take 10 years. We need to change both mankind + the systems.

Rhythm of a natural flow of systemic settlements

If you are read into religion as human beings on Earth refer to, that specific matter of evolvement and evolution on Earth, God might be a woman. And there are two genders, fyi.
