

Consciousness Quotient - who is in charge (everyone)

Illustration: How far will your thought or action travel regarding globalization

The Diameter spread of consciousness affection, for other fellow human beings in particular, might be equivalent to $\frac{4}{3} \pi r^3$. By this meaning that conscious beings itself does not necessarily operate in 2d but also vertically.

Let's say that classical physics operates like this: being closer to a black hole, your time perception will slow down. According to iacte's research, it will speed up. The reason for this kind of thinking can/might be explained further: If you see a close up picture of a (some) galaxy('ies) there will be more action, more light/visible photons/stars around the center of a black hole. More of this cosmic behavior or structure, means that the chances of more conscious life being able to thrive & develop, also there is such an intense amount of an energy level around this area, possibly providing a higher CQ. Maybe. This is where density and signal pathways have an advantage of transferring info.

Gravity will create, and its creation will at a certain timeline decline 'Time' due to evolution.

Question: How far can your conscious behavior travel to affect another conscious being?

The 20s is something else. We are hopefully getting globalized in a way which contributes to positivity for all of the human race. It seems that some parts/cultures are still not quite up to date when it comes to shared information being used for goodwill. You can use it within your own country, and still be able to not agree if it should be shared or not. This is actually what CQ are trying to explain: How the different state regulative systems lower CQ.

An example: The information will contribute to a some form of higher power position, and for our nation to achieve a wanted/certain position the people have to obey after and what's written in either history, laws or what ever being used for, again; either strengthen the position of a nation, or weaken it. This will also be twisted by the media.

If 'Time' creates matter, and the consciousness level (/ CQ) rises proportionally with evolution, this seems like a very difficult task for a world leader to grasp around. Such a subject can create chaos and also harm the culture.
