

Good vs Human

Reference: Queens of the Stone Age - Autopilot – (Incompetent norwegian judges...(my words)))

Let's say you want to live a life where you are not fear based. You will get two choices. If you decide to choose for yourself you will also get two choices. The difference lies in actions and trust. You can always choose, or believe to choose, for yourself and others. If you put that specific matter of your life into higher realms you can actually get two choices for free. Free will seem to be set by 1,62. By this meaning you can be perpetuated by the environment/surroundings or consciousness itself. There will be signs for every one of you. Besides your ego.

Question: Will you ever think of the other part of reality created for yourself if you had done it the other way?

Most likely not. Most likely not because you have to relate to the reality you experience at this specific timeline. It makes you feel better, it makes you resonate better also, with what you have. For example when you read this. It will be okay, because time is on your side. Time is on everyone's side. You will adapt, except for the Norwegian judges. (education and indoctrination wise)

Example: You will lose vs. You will win. In either way give it time, and you will start to focus on positivity.

Explained: There is a difference in actions. I said that / I was provoked to do that. The outcome is for time to tell if this was a good choice, or not. The human advantage is that it can clearly be used for learning. So remember that an elderly leader might be preferable as a result of lack of feelings and their own hormone production. Nature.

The potential of free will (1,62), is set to your own connections for something greater than yourself. If you believe in it, it is part of your life. If you do not, it is not. Actually quite simple. To believe in it, you need to be open minded. Is it possible or is it not? This document is not supported by the CEO, still it is necessary because of:

Inkompetent human beings with power.

For judges worldwide: do justice after you have eaten. FYI, statistically proven. Piece of shits.

There is potential in every human being because our mind is built alike. What you store is what you get
