

Religion / Light and perception as a result of our environment

- Abraham genus equals what?
- Jesus was a student of Buddha
- Jesus is a fictional name for Emanuell
- Every religion teaches love
- Islam may be misinterpreted, but doomsday will most likely not happen
- Buddhism has killed more people than any other religion.
- Christianity and Catholicism is in constant search of consciousness
- The ego center in our brain are heavily attached to the spiritual center
- There is a difference in being religious vs spiritual
- Are you part of something greater than yourself, or are you not?
- Everything matters
- Consciousness is a difficult word to write, as it is difficult to understand

Every religion has something good to it. And it all stems from the Abraham genus, societal wise.

