Why zero is not one

Question: If we both watch each other, and the universe creates us to experience the creation, who surveils whom?

Follow up question: What watches then?

If you are going to do something illegal or criminal, and you know someone is watching who can interfere in a bad way (for you) and you do it anyway, you are probably mad or crazy. This is how the different state systems shape the difference and differentialities between us. They can choose, just as much as you can choose to engage in an activity.

An example: Everything checked on this specific computer, is also doubled verified checked on ‘those’ computers

By this meaning, in any case the surveilled will also be the surveiller, thinking of how the conscious mind operates.

If you are familiar with Consciousness Quotient, it will guide you into a reality that can be similar to religion or spirituality. Over a certain point of a conscious level on a scale from 0,01-51,61 you will start to question what everything is, also why. This is harder within some certain religious groups. Lets call them Islamists, as a start.

Let’s create a scenario: Anything you can imagine is possible and probably exist already somewhere in our universe

If particles share information it is pretty obvious that you as a human being, made of particles vibrating on a specific field resonating with the conscious, also can connect to whomever you want to connect to. Speech as an example.

Who you want to resonate with, is your choice, and since consciousness is everywhere ET’s can choose who to interfere with. It is called a hierarchy, but only in a conscious part of who is higher or lower. Referring to CQ.

Question two: If light, created by vibrating electrons and the positronal field is what holographic matter is, then why would you not be created by light?

Now, start releasing files regarding this matter. Do yourself a favor because energy is soon to be here
