

How Norway seem to not fit into the global society - in the future

- The NV involved, and the NV will not engage

Illustration: Remember everyone; not to destroy your children as the Norwegian government does everytime

Thee worst mistake your country/nation can do: to not implement new laws fast enough

Example: 'The Norwegian Children's Law '

- This law operates under the exact circumstances as every other law. You should reckon that common sense would be more valuable in these court cases, but it is not. As mentioned earlier, Norway has a pretty short law book compared to other nations due to a belief that common sense is of some form of value. What actually has been sentenced/judged in earlier cases is how they will judge similar cases. Therefore we have sentences which are affected by stupidity after stupidity for decades. Slowing both development and personal growth. Why this law is being used as an example, is because they are the future generation for future infrastructure & development towards something interstellar sustainable functioning planet.

This might be a global situation also, in which way that will slow the potential development. Children in the 80s had a way different environment, and as a grown up you will understand. But the system will not! F***** joke.

When it comes to how to prioritize as a government, most fail. Nations fail as a result of foreign interests. And as a result you will get parts of your population either being miserable, disappointed, critical or starting riots. It is a natural thing with human beings. And thus, the national state system itself is responsible for future development.

Question one: Is it trust, regularity or indoctrination who makes, for example Norwegian judges incapable of making their own beliefs in a situation as a result of direct human interaction, into words/written sentences?

Question two: Or is it the regulative system who pays you to feed your needs when you act like a neanderthaler?

You do not impress any nation if you do not care for future generations, and the system does not care for anyone
