Dear Fellow Nevadan,

Welcome to this week's edition of the Senate Briefing. This past week, the Senate has been in Washington holding hearings and moving legislation, and the week before we were back home in our states meeting with constituents. Read more below about my recess meetings, the legislation I've been working on, and more!

It was a pleasure to meet with Nevadans last week during our in-state work period. Read below about some of the highlights!

At the Culinary Health Center, I saw firsthand the critical role they play in ensuring the workers who keep Nevada running receive quality, comprehensive health care.

I toured the New York-New York Hotel & Casino and the T-Mobile Arena to learn more about how Congress can support the recovery of Nevada's travel and tourism industry.

It was a pleasure to join Nevada leaders in honoring Clark County School District teacher Juliana Urtubey, the 2021 National Teacher of the Year!

Our small businesses have been hit hard by the pandemic. As a member of the Senate Small Business Committee, providing relief to our small business community has been one of my top priorities.

That's why I was proud to host a Small Business Resource Fair last week, to help Nevada business owners obtain access to the resources they need on their road to recovery. I will continue advocating for the needs of our small business community to ensure they have the tools to succeed.

This week, I re-introduced the bipartisan Small Business Child Care Investment Act with Senator Joni Ernst \(R-IA\). This bill would make non-profit child care providers eligible for the same U.S. Small Business Administration loan programs currently available to for-profit providers.

We need to make child care more accessible for working families.

Do you think we need to make child care more affordable by passing the Small Business Child Care Investment Act?

IN THE NEWS

LAS VEGAS  SUN

Sen. Rosen, head of new tourism panel, visits Vegas Strip

"A year after the coronavirus pandemic hobbled tourist-dependent Nevada and pushed its unemployment rate to about 30%, things feel like they're starting to turn around, U.S. Sen. Jacky Rosen said Tuesday.

Rosen, a Nevada Democrat, toured the New York-New York casino-resort on the Las Vegas Strip and nearby T-Mobile arena as part of her work chairing a new Senate subcommittee focused on tourism and travel."

Nevada lawmakers introduce bill to aid nonprofit child care providers

“Nevada lawmakers introduced bipartisan legislation in Congress on Wednesday that would allow nonprofit child care providers to receive loans through the Small Business Administration to provide affordable care for working families.

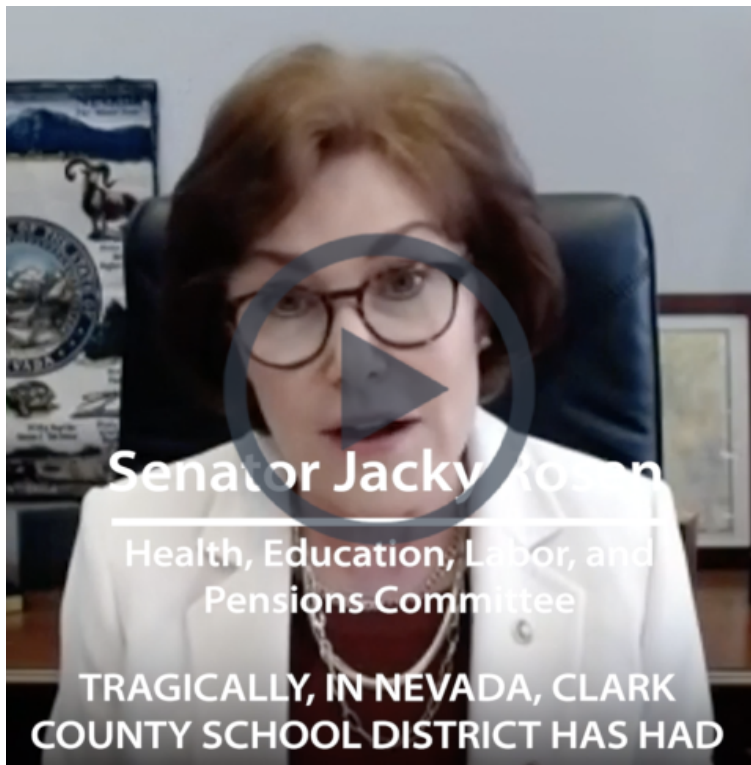

Sen. Jacky Rosen and Rep. Susie Lee, both Nevada Democrats, filed similar bills in the Senate and House along with Republican co-sponsors Sen. Joni Ernst of Iowa and Rep. Pete Stauber of Minnesota.”

MEDIA CENTER

Tragically, Clark County School District in Nevada has reported an alarming number of students taking their own lives since March 2020. We’re at the top of a list no one wants to be on.

WATCH me bring up the need to do more to support the mental health and well-being of our students:
