HAYES CREATES

DANCE FEST

Huge congratulations to all involved in last week's Dancefest Showcase. A large audience were treated to a brilliant range of dance style in a show made up of developing GCSE /A Level pieces and performances from our brilliant dance clubs. Brave and innovative choreography was mixed with expressive and carefree joy in what was a real celebration of all things Dance. Well done to all the group leaders and of course, the wonderful Mrs Jefferies.

Keep an eye on our social media feeds for the link to the full recording of the show - coming very soon!

HAYESCREATES LOOKS BACK!

Time for another look back into the HayesCreates Vaults!
This issue as always we'll be looking back 5, 10 and 15 years, this time to 2019, 2014 and 2009!

In 2019 Miss Devaux and Mrs Elford treated us to a truly innovative take on Little Shop of Horrors. Having been a visionary director since arriving at Hayes 10 years earlier, Miss Devaux bowed out in style by messing with the one thing you're not supposed to mess with in Little Shop - the plant itself! Why hire a ridiculously expensive puppet when you can use our student's top-notch physical theatre skills instead? So the cast themselves became the man-eating plant, it's numbers rising with every kill! Amongst the physical mayhem the show saw wonderfully sensitive performances from Ethan Galloway and Charlotte Waight as the doomed Seymour and Audrey, a powerhouse turn from Zoe Monforte and Erin Seppings as the physical embodiment of the man-eating plant and a truly horrific, scenery-munching cameo from Rudi Rance as the psychopathic dentist!

HAYES CREATES LOOKS BACK!

10 years ago Mr Gunning and Miss Devaux decided to direct a show neither of them had any prior knowledge of. Well, why not? How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying might have been new to creatives, cast, crew and most of the audience, but it was a huge success and enormous fun to produce. This 1960s set comedy musical about the rise, fall and rise again of a super-smart nobody with aspirations of business grandeur saw one of the great Hayes double acts - Theo Holt-Bailey (now gracing the West End) and George Cowley - taking centre stage and bringing the house down every night. There's a lot to be said for doing a show you've never heard of....

The whole of How to Succeed...can be found here -

HAYES CREATES LOOKS BACK!

2009 saw an incredibly bold production take to the Hayes Stage, as Mr Eden unleashed his long gestating vision of Marlowe's Dr Faustus onto the Hall! A cast of gloriously dressed and made-up punks filled the stage for this visually spectacular interpretation of Hell, with flaming torches in every corner of the room and a soundtrack of Punk and New Wave classics accompanying the cast's superb delivery of Marlowe's classic text. Henry Smith took on the role of the doomed Faustus with glee, transforming from a tweed suited stiff to a leather-clad denizen of the night before the eyes of three nights of packed audiences!

Give the good Doctor a bit of YouTube love - it's a sadly under-appreciated show on our channel!
