Excerpt from an article in the Portland Press Herald dated 4/23/23, entitled "Art review: Maine's natural beauty masterfully portrayed in 2 engaging Portland shows" written by Jorge S. Arango.

The Cove Street Arts Gallery show was entitled "Tree Speech."

"...Victoria Elbroch's ink on paper,
"Metamorphosis,' also conveys an inner life force, even if we are looking at what is basically a dead trunk that is overtaken with ferns, mosses and other plant life that feed on its carcass..."
