RECCE Site Investigation Limited was established in 2022 to provide professional UXO risk mitigation, UXO support services and geotechnical site investigation services to the construction and infrastructure sectors throughout the United Kingdom.

Quality is important to our business because we value our customers as well as all other stakeholders. We strive to provide our customers with services which meet and exceed their expectations.

We are committed to satisfying applicable statutory, regulatory and customer requirements while continually improving the effectiveness of our Quality Management System.

We have the following policies and procedures in place to support us in our quality goals and align with our quality system:

- Regular gathering and monitoring of customer feedback
- A robust corrective action and continual improvement process
- Selection and performance monitoring of our entire supply chain
- Continuous training and development of employees
- Regular quality audits of our internal processes
- Measurable quality objectives which reflect our business aims
- Management reviews of audit results, customer feedback and complaints

Our internal procedures are reviewed regularly and are held in a Quality Manual which is made available to all employees.

The Managing Director has overall responsibility for the effectiveness of the Quality Management System. However, quality is the responsibility of every employee, who is expected to understand and fulfil their responsibilities in delivering safe, compliant and high-quality services.

Craig Barnett
