Mega Heatwave Set To Bring Very Hot To Extreme Temperatures For Our Exact Start Dates Once Again...

The results are now in and confirmed everyone and, throughout the whole of next week, we will now be facing some kind of mega heatwave across ALL parts of the country from Sunday/Monday that is likely to reach the low to high 30s quite widely with the increasing possibility of 40°C or more even being breached.

Additionally, there will be NO breakdown or end to the heatwave by Tuesday or midweek, as I have seen many pages falsely and incorrectly reporting on only in recent days (all the gear and NO idea)...

The updates for the above and incoming heat projections over the last several days alone for the EXACT start dates and despite ever-changing forecasts from elsewhere:

The updates for the above and incoming heat projections over the last 'several weeks' and also for the EXACT 'start' dates of around JUNE 22-24 (ALWAYS our big heatwave dates for JUNE):

For those who like the heat, try to enjoy it but also remember to take care and check on those more vulnerable than yourselves...

A great Thursday evening all, and you heard it here first once again,
