PURPOSE

The Gullah Festival of South Carolina Inc., a nonprofit, tax-exempt organization of Beaufort was established in 1985 with its first festival being held in 1986 by natives of Beaufort to continue a four-day celebration of the historical significant Sea Island heritage. Its goal is to reclaim for future generations the beauty and mystery of the disappearing Gullah Culture, a mix of West African legacy and American experience, to help Arts in Education, and to foster a better understanding of, and appreciation for the culture. Highlights include consumer, educational, and historical workshops, a fine arts exhibit, demonstrations and a potpourri of music and food for everyone.

Our Farewell Dinner:

CST specially picked this location: The “Gullah Grub Restaurant” Chef & Owner Mr. Bill Green. Chef Green has been featured on several programs including, Martha Stewart Living and Anthony Bourdain: No Reservations. Bill is nationally recognized as one of the few purveyors’ of authentic Gullah foods.

Hope to see yah da...
