INTRODUCTION

To whom it may concern, I declare that I am an expert in pharmaceutical research & development. My career-long focus has been on new medicines discovery, working with teams across several disciplines. While I was responsible for new medicines for allergic & respiratory diseases, the skill sets required to invent safe and effective medicines are generic, involving as they do avoidance of components of the active ingredient which are thought likely to carry as a toxicity liability. My training, both academic and practical, provides me with an unusually strong grasp of the risks of toxicity in emerging new medicinal entities.

I hereby state unequivocally that the materials called covid19 vaccines are replete with several features that are independently likely to cause harms to recipients. The number of these toxicity liabilities, coupled with there being no conceivable rationale for their inclusion and for the obviousness of them to those with my skillset, typical of senior staff in a large R&D based pharmaceutical company, leads me to conclude that these molecules were designed intentionally to injure, kill and reduce fertility in survivors. Intentional harm upon administration meets the definition of a biochemical weapon. Those reading this for the first time may be incredulous. However, I have discussed this with hundreds of scientists and medical doctors and no one has come close to rebutting any of what I've written.

What follows is a brief summary of my training and professional career. After that, an outline of my main observations about the design choices in the alleged covid19 vaccines, which support my conclusions about them.

I have written extensively about the entire covid19 deception and have both learned from and, I believe, contributed to the developing understanding of many others, including most of my fellow experts. The two most useful sources of my evolving understanding are to be found at my Substack channel and in my most recently filmed interview of approximately one hour. I have applied my energies exclusively onto this whole topic for well over 5 years full-time work.

I am willing to answer any reasonable question and eager to give evidence under oath as well as to face cross-examination in open court. I am distressingly confident in my reasoning and deductions. Not to draw upon my expertise is a travesty.

Professional Background:

I have training in biochemistry and toxicology (1st class joint honours, 1985) followed by a research-based PhD in respiratory pharmacology (1988). I then worked at increasingly senior levels in biopharmaceutical R&D (new medicines) and was vice president and worldwide head of allergy and respiratory at Pfizer, a position I left in 2011. After that, I took on work as a consultant to over 30 biotechnology companies and was highly regarded both by investors and management. More recently I founded & led as CEO a biotech (Ziarco Pharmaceuticals Ltd) which was acquired by Novartis (2017). <https://www.novartis.com/news/media-releases/novartis-bolsters-innovative-dermatology-portfolio-through-acquisition-ziarco-group-limited>

I have a wide knowledge of the pharmaceutical industry, including all aspects of new medicine design, research, and development. In particular, I have an in-depth knowledge of custom and practice in designing molecules likely to be safe, as well as of immunology and respiratory diseases. I offer as evidence that, as of the first quarter of 2017, I was very well-regarded by senior persons in the biopharmaceutical world, the following article about me, published in Forbes business magazine, written by Dr John LaMattina, who was formerly President and worldwide head of Pfizer R&D and also a Pfizer board member: <https://www.forbes.com/sites/johnlamattina/2017/03/15/turning-pfizer-discards-into-novartis-gold-the-story-of-ziarco/?sh=79b406257572>

I provide the above outline of my credentials as evidence that as the most senior, former pharmaceutical company research executive in the world who is speaking out, I have the expertise and knowledge to make me a credible expert in speaking out about the grave concerns I have (concerns which are shared by others) about the alleged pandemic & countermeasures, especially the gene-based injections. I have been raising these concerns now for a period of around for 4.5 years to date. I have chosen to make no money from campaigning and have even covered my own travel expenses.

I am constantly subjected to extreme digital censorship (for example, I cannot post material under my real name in any mainstream internet platform) and to smearing (for example, numerous articles written by non-scientists, who start with their intended conclusion that I am “spreading disinformation” and never even attempt to rebut any of my core claims). If you search for “Dr Mike Yeadon” using Google’s Chrome browser, you will see page after page of scurrilous pieces and few to no mentions of any interviews I have given or articles I have written on the Substack self-publishing platform. However, if you use exactly the same search term on minority browsers such as Yandex, you will be shown dozens of interviews and articles by me and only some smear pieces. The most logical interpretation is, as ever, that the people doing the censoring are lying and the person they are censoring is telling dangerous truths. As most people wrongly consider any browser is as good as any other, most people alerted to my name by a follower will be treated to a wall of off-putting information about me.

The injections termed “covid19 vaccines” are intentionally harmful:

Choosing to bring forward a new vaccine is unquestionably the wrong response to a pandemic, even had the narrative presented to us not been false. It is impossible to conduct R&D and develop methods of manufacture of complex biological products in under 5-6y. The claim that it was accomplished in <1y is not true. The reason is that there is a series of indispensable tasks, many of which cannot be started until the results of the preceding steps are in hand. If I add up the total time elapsed for the minimal critical path activities, I estimate that even with many investments made in parallel & at risk of being wasted, it is not possible to reduce the time required to under two year and likely 4-6 years.

In brief, the effect of overly expeditious development is that the product injected into literally billions of innocent men, women and children is not the same product as was used in the clinical trials. Gene-based vaccines were advanced as the exclusive solution, but was a means to misuse the reduced regulatory hurdles for conventional vaccines in order to push dangerous gene therapies onto the market.

I first encountered the idea of mRNA-based therapeutics in the late-1990s, when I led respiratory research for Pfizer. I could see a potential clinical utility only in life-threatening, inoperable cancers that were unresponsive to chemotherapeutics and radiotherapy. Somewhat of a niche opportunity only. The original idea was that a piece of genetic code coupled to something else that would enable the preparation to travel to and be taken up by the remote tumour. The cells making up that tumour would copy the genetic code and make whatever protein was encoded. Because that protein was foreign, and not normally made by humans, our immune systems would recognise that we had something foreign inside us and this would stimulate a lethal attack upon every cell that had taken up and followed the genetic instructions. This is a branch of what is called “immuno-oncology” and a number of companies have tried to develop such “gene therapies” as anti-cancer agents, so far without success. The crucial point to remember is that these preparations were expected to work by precipitating lethal immune attack on every cell that had taken it up. This is what the “covid19 vaccines” do, too.

The end result has been billions of people being injected with mis-classified and inadequately tested gene-therapies, masquerading as “vaccines”. The adverse effect profiles and deaths as a consequence are extraordinary yet are being ignored by multiple bodies tasked with vigilance in patient safety. None of this can be constructed as accidental or inadvertent. The design choices made in constructing the gene-based agents purporting to be vaccines are evidence of intentional harms. Medicinal preparations contain molecules chosen by its designers. My career has been wholly within the sphere of endeavour called “rational drug design”.

My contention is that, by close examination of the products of such design teams, I can, at least in part, deduce the intentions of the designers. There is no reasonable conclusion to this analysis other than that the designers intentionally created products which would be expected to cause harms including death and sterility.

Designed-in toxicity 1: axiomatic induction of “autoimmune” responses, regardless of what the genetic sequence codes for. When our bodies manufacture a foreign or non-self-protein, our immune system recognizes this as a threat and mounts a lethal attack on every cell performing the genetic instruction. In short, wherever in the body these materials travel after injection into the upper arm, the immune system will destroy those cells and tissues. I believe it is very likely that the reported extensive range of adverse effects is due to this common process, autoimmune destruction, occurring in all kinds of tissues around the body. This is expected. Anyone with a basic knowledge of immunology knows this.

Designed-in toxicity 2: The next was choice of the gene chosen. I believe selecting the spike protein of the alleged coronavirus is irrational, because it was highly likely to be directly toxic. These surface proteins are known from comparison to related pathogens to be toxic to blood, initiating blood clots and damaging the function of nerve cells. There are several alternative genes that a safety-orientated designer would choose from.

Designed-in toxicity 3: On formulation, the teams developing mRNA-based products both selected lipid nanoparticles (LNPs) to encapsulate their genetic message. Yet there was industry knowledge that these LNPs not only travel all over the body including into the brain but that they accumulate in the ovaries. Yet, knowing this, the companies and regulators went ahead and then others compounded the toxicity risk by recommending these injections in pregnant women and children.

<https://www.sciencedirect.com/science/article/abs/pii/S0168365912000892>

This is not an exhaustive list and I am aware of further toxicity liabilities. I felt three was an adequate number to exemplify my concerns. Remember, please, that these agents are not expected to yield benefits as explained earlier and have been developed at a pace completely inconsistent with normal practice, absolutely required to result in a consistent product. I am very confident of this conclusion. I have said so in more than 100 video interviews which have been viewed millions of times, despite the obvious efforts of censors. If these claims were completely wrong, I expected to have been corrected years ago and at least injuncted not to repeat the claims. This has never happened. Finally, the evolution of the target population, from initially only the elderly, eventually to everyone, including children and pregnant women, is confirmatory evidence of intentional harm.

In conclusion there are several, completely obvious safety issues built into these products. This is evidence of intention to cause harms. I first warned of this in writing on 1st December, 2020, BEFORE any so-called "covid19 vaccine" had launched.

The link shows deaths by "vaccination status" from the commencement of the USA Vaccine Adverse Events Reporting System (VAERS) in 1990 to the present. An extraordinary and immediate spike in deaths occurred immediately after mass roll-out of the "covid19 vaccines".

Addendum:

Here is a separate statement that I wrote about a year earlier, which was sent to a very senior member of the UK Police Force. They did nothing with this information, receipt of which was acknowledged. It contains different details and therefore the reader may find it helpful.

I have been asked by former policeman, Mark Sexton to introduce myself to you & to indicate the fields in which I have gathered unequivocal evidence of criminal activity.

Let me begin my outlining my credentials to have realized that the areas I will outline were incorrect in the first place. My name is Dr Mike Yeadon.

I am the most senior, former “big pharma” & biotech research executive speaking out about several serious crimes in relation to what I call the “Covid era”.

My original training was in Biochemistry & Toxicology, in which I was awarded the strongest first class joint honors degree that the School of Biomedical Sciences had ever awarded at the time (1985, University of Surrey).

Part of my undergraduate training involved research placements at the Chemical Defense Establishment, Porton Down, Wiltshire, where I was a small cog in the long term development of injected antidotes for nerve gas poisoning to protect British troops. I also worked at the then Central Laboratory of the Forensic Sciences Service, Aldermaston, Berkshire, adjacent to the Atomic Weapons Research Establishment. While with the Forensic Science Service, I received training on several precision analytical methods including mass spectrometry, then a highly technically complex method.

As far as I recall, I had security clearance for both establishments. Porton Down, then as now, is a top security facility with an international reputation.

My PhD, in the field of Pharmacology was “On the effect of opiates on respiratory function” (1988) and this was sponsored by the MOD.

After securing my PhD, which gave me a sound training in several additional subdisciplines of biology, chemistry & drug metabolism, I joined the pharmaceutical industry.

I spent 24 years with “big pharma”, starting at Wellcome Research Laboratories, where I briefly worked alongside a Dr Patrick Vallance (who became Chief Scientific Advisor to the British Government).

For the longest period, I was in charge of Pfizer’s global research in the field of Allergic & Respiratory Disease Therapeutics. I left Pfizer in 2011, having reached the level of Vice President, because the company had decided to exit their large R&D base in Kent. The parting was cordial. Before leaving, I sought to find new homes for the portfolio of exploratory medicines I had helped create & was gratified that Mylan U.K. Ltd, the world’s second largest generics company, acquired much of my former portfolio soon after I had left.

I later founded & led as CEO a highly successful biotechnology company, Ziarco Pharma Ltd. Pfizer Venture Investments and four other venture capital firms were investors in my company, which was acquired by Novartis Pharmaceuticals, in 2017.

My accomplishments are considered by some to have been unusual. So much so that a former Pfizer board member & previously worldwide head of R&D, Dr John LaMattina, wrote up my last venture in Forbes, a leading business magazine (February 2017).

<https://www.forbes.com/sites/johnlamattina/2017/03/15/turning-pfizer-discards-into-novartis-gold-the-story-of-ziarco/?sh=2470f09a7572>

In summary, I have had a very strong training in multiple disciplines and over 30 years leadership experience in the field of inventing and testing new medicines for respiratory illnesses. I have an excellent analytical background and I can claim to be at least the equal of anyone advising the government in biopharmaceutical science.

I have no history of “conspiracy theory” or political campaigns or protests. I don’t believe I made a single public comment on anything prior to 2020.

My accomplishments in applied biomedical sciences qualify me to be taken seriously. I ask that the evidence I marshal is evaluated thoroughly. I am confident in my assessments, which have been tested by dozens of other, internationally well-known scientists and doctors.

I have filed numerous legal statements as affidavits used in court proceedings in several countries.

I’m going to introduce just two topics at this point. To cover everything would be simply too overwhelming to read, let alone absorb & understand at a single sitting. I’m simply going to make statements. I’m not going to attempt to prove them in this short communication. Rest assured I have done so however, on dozens of occasions. I’ve given upwards of 250 full length interviews.

I must warn the reader that even this deliberately limited information is going to be shocking, if you hadn’t already realized that something without precedent in the world was going on. Please also note that ordinary searching on the internet, often colloquially as “googling”, is not going to find many of the sources upon which I have drawn. The major search engines have been manipulated such that the results exclude material troubling to the authorities.

The two areas are:

1. The claimed pandemic.
2. The injections, purporting to be vaccines.

The main claims are stark.

1. Put simply, there has been no pandemic. There was the normal range of illnesses in the early part of 2020 as in any other year. What was different about 2020 was that all governments, led by the WHO, engaged in coordinated lying to their citizens.

This continues to this day. Everyone was told there was a pandemic was coming. The illusion was created by deliberate misuse of a clinical diagnostic test called PCR. The heart of this entire deception is the incorrect belief that PCR is nearly flawless and so a positive result means that a person “had covid”.

There is no such disease. Not one symptom is unique to the claimed new disease. A positive test was called “a case”. Anybody dying within a few weeks of a positive test was declared “a covid death”. All that was needed was to roll out such tests rapidly in early 2020 & the carefully planned result, an apparent “pandemic” was created. Government & media lies was initially all it took to maintain the illusion.

Crucially, the epidemiological evidence shows that there was no additional illness or deaths compared with the same period in any other year. Numerous scientific papers and authors will present their evidence on this point, including university professors qualified in epidemiology.

The WHO played their part in the crime, by declaring a “public health emergency of international concern”, or a “pandemic”. Immediately after WHO’s fraudulent declaration, changes in medical procedures were imposed everywhere.

These changes caused the deaths that were held up to the citizens as proof that we were in a pandemic. We have a long list of witnesses to these changes being inappropriate and often fatal. Notice my PhD was on the effects of opiates, like morphine, on respiration. I knew that what was being prescribed was definitely inappropriate.

So, no pandemic. Only the deliberate illusion of one. This was accompanied by changes in medical practice that would predictably result in large numbers of deaths in hospitals, care homes and the community. No one will fail to appreciate the severity of the charges here.

I cannot be sure the motivation for this deception was. But the effects of it has been to severely damage the economies of scores of countries, with financial transfers counted in trillions of pounds, from the poorest & the taxpayers to the wealthiest elites. Civil society has also been severely disrupted and has never been allowed to begin to heal.

Other, less speculative motivations became apparent as 2020 wore on & this brings us to my second, shocking charge.

2. The materials that are being called “covid19 vaccines” are obviously not vaccines. Note, there has been no pandemic

My entire career has been in the field of designing and testing new arrangements of atoms to create what we hope will be new potential medicines. In addition to bringing about desired changes in the body, the main concern is to avoid unwanted effects, in other words, toxicity or harms.

My training in mechanistic toxicology was repeatedly useful in helping teams foresee, avoid or understand such problems.

So I understand deeply how to design molecules and also how to interrogate them for their prospects to bring about desired effects and crucially to discern risks of harms. I don’t think it’s too great a claim to say that there isn’t anyone better qualified than I am to do this in relation to these novel treatments.

I’m going to go directly to the charges. These injections have been carefully designed to intentionally cause toxicity in those injected with them. I can detect at least three, separate features of these injections which would be expected to injure, to kill or to reduce fertility in survivors. These are not mistakes. Each are so obviously deliberate to anyone who has a history of involvement in rational drug design for new medicines.

At least two features are common to every injection purporting to be a “covid vaccine”. First, the mRNA nature of the major products. Second, the lipid nanoparticle nature of the formulations in which they are encapsulated.

The mRNA is genetic code for a chosen protein. Regardless of what the protein is, once the human body is caused to express it, it will be recognized as foreign and attacked by their own immune system. Depending on details we cannot know, just by looking at the glass vials, some people will be injured as a result of this lethal autoimmune attack. Others will be killed, the time taken to die & their suffering before they die will vary. It'll look like the normal range of illnesses. There will simply be more of them.

Because of the lipid nano particle formulation, some of the injected materials will accumulate in the ovaries (possibly also the testicles). This homing property in reproductive tissue has been known about for more than a decade. The effect will be a lowering of fertility affecting every stage of reproduction. I can bring detailed rationales for each of these claims as well as several others.

I also have an usual piece of evidence, given the crimes I claim have been committed. I had worked out part of this assault before any purported vaccine had received its fraudulent authorization.

Having done so, with another author, I wrote an open letter to the European Medicines Authority in early December 2020, which is attached below. In it, we warn of the harms which we anticipated. It has been more than upsetting to watch them come true, the last taking a year, the adverse effects on fertility.

All-causes mortality is elevated almost everywhere in the world that these products have been widely used and live births sharply reduced. https://2020news.de/wp-content/uploads/2020/12/Wodarg_Yeadon_EMA_Petition_Pfizer_Trial_FINAL_01DEC2020_EN_unsigned_with_Exhibits.pdf
