The “Formal” Wheatens

This group of Wheatens are a bit more “realistic” than some of my other designs. In general, these are about 5” in their longest dimension, although they can be made larger or slightly smaller. Changes in size will, naturally, change the price for the piece.

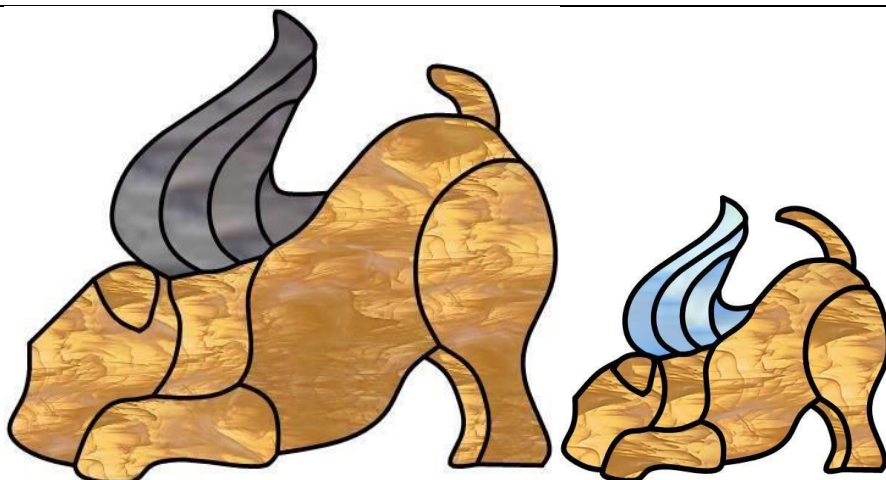

Many pieces are available with a Natural Tail or the Docked tail. Some designs show both variants.

Formal Wheatens – Hearts & Shamrocks

Wheaten lovers are passionate – there's no way around that. They carry their Wheatens in their hearts – and these designs faithfully represent that devotion.

The set of Wheatens in the Shamrocks celebrate this wonderful breed's Irish heritage.

Wheatens Having Fun!

These Wheatens just want to have fun! (Don't they all?)

A little less formal, but still 100% Wheaten, these designs are usually a little bit larger than the "formal" styles.

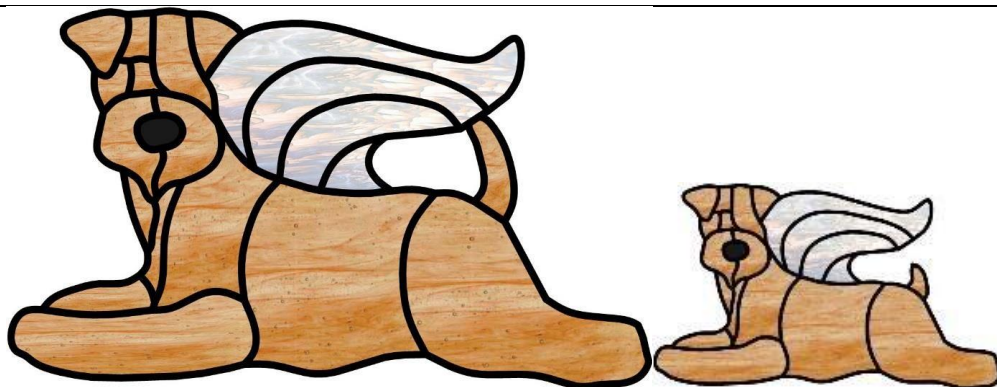

As with the formal Wheatens, they can be made larger or slightly smaller. Changes in size will, naturally, change the price for the piece.

Many pieces are available with a Natural Tail or the Docked tail. Some designs show both variants.

Special Combinations

This section illustrates some of the special combinations that have been requested in the past.

If you have an idea for a new combination, let me know – I'd be glad to take a look at your suggestion and see what I can do.

These designs are NOT available in every format, so individual pricing lists follow each of the designs. If you do not see a particular format in the list for your chosen design, that design is probably not available in that format. (For example, the Angel with the rainbow cannot be made into a garden lantern. These restrictions are the result of either the number of pieces, the size of the frame (in the case of the garden lantern) or the overall size of the piece if we tried to do it.

Lamps

Lamps are a completely different project. I can put the same design on each panel, or different designs on the panels. The designs can be stock designs – as seen in this catalog – or custom, drawn just for you from a photograph you supply.

Designs can be on each panel, or some panels left “blank”. Wheatens can be combined with other things – Celtic knots, flowers, cats, treats... the only limitation is our combined imaginations.

The chart below exists only to give an idea of the types and shades that are available.

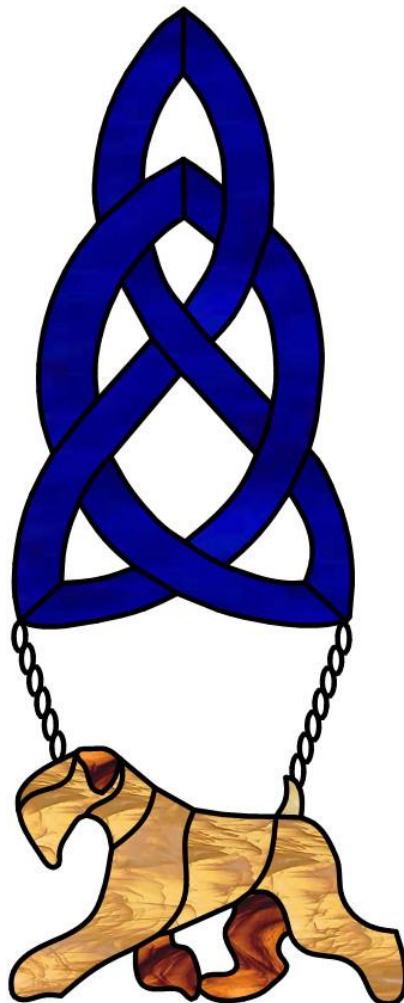

Item Name
Prairie Style Panel lampshade	4 panels	Rigid metal frame
Rounded style lampshade	No panels	Rounded shape
Traditional Paneled lampshade	4 to 20 panels	Angled Shape (depending on number of panels)

Celtic Wheatens

That's a bit redundant – they are Irish Soft Coated Wheatens, after all. But for these designs, they've been paired with Celtic Knots.

The price for these designs are the combined price of the Wheaten (from the tables in this catalog) and the price of the knot.

Photo Transfer

These products are a little different – and they start with a photograph.

I transfer the photograph to a transparent medium, and sandwich that between two sheets of glass. That resulting panel can then be used in a candle holder, picture frame – just about anything.

I recommend keeping these relatively small – 8” x 10” or so. Larger photos tend to get a bit “grainy” and don’t transfer well. The price will depend on what style is chosen for the final piece.

Custom Portraits / Panels

And here is where you can have a truly custom, one-of-a-kind piece of stained glass made for you!

I start with a photograph or two, and draw a pattern of your beloved Wheaten. (Or cat, or boat, or race car...)

I use the same computer software that I used to create the drawings in this catalog, and before I cut any glass, we will both have a good idea about how the finished piece will look.

We will talk about size, framing choices, background colors, level of detail. We will discuss if you want anything added or changed. (For example, two pups put into one drawing.) When we're through talking, I start working.

AJ is an example of a simple photo “translation” – from the picture to the glass with few changes.

Bubis was famous for his neckties, but his Mom liked his smile. I combined the two photos into a single finished stained glass portrait.

Danny has been framed in a shadow box, with LED lights providing “anytime sunshine” to illuminate the glass.

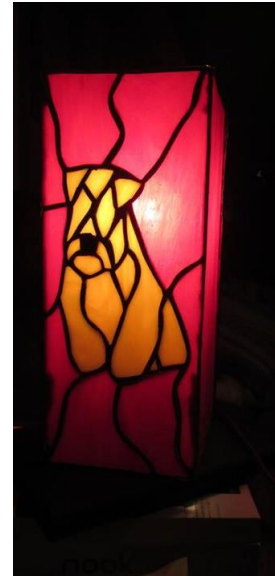

What do the different styles look like?

A little bit about glass colors.

Did you ever look at the windows in an old church and wonder why they used so much green? Why red was used as an accent? Did the window maker really like yellow that much?

By now, you've probably noticed that I've got lots of notes that say color choice can affect your final price. Why is that?

Working with glass isn't quite like coloring a picture. I don't have a box of 64 crayons that I can open and have exactly the same color each and every time. They also don't make every color... so my glass choices are often a combination of approximation and "what looks good".

Glass prices vary depending on manufacturer, texture, and color.

I can hear the voice in your head... "Color? Really?"

Yes, really.

You see, glass is colored by adding metals to the process when they make the sheets of glass. Those metals vary in price significantly, and therefore, the price of a square foot of glass can vary significantly.

The next page has a short table listing some of the most common colors that I use, and the metals that the manufacturers use to make them. --

So if we are designing something, and we're trying to stay within a tight budget, please don't be annoyed if I suggest that you DON'T want a cranberry or pink background!

Glass Color	Metal Added	Approximate Cost of that Metal
Brown	Iron Oxide	$0.05 per pound
Yellow	Cadmium Sulfide	$1 per pound
Yellow	Lead	$1 per pound
Yellow	Sulfur	$2 per pound
Green	Iron Oxide	$0.05 per pound
Green	Copper	$3 per pound
Emerald Green	Chromic Oxide	$2 per pound
Purple	Manganese Dioxide	$1 per pound
Violet	Nickel Oxide	$7 per pound
Blue	Cobalt Oxide	$14 per pound
White	Antimony Oxide	$5 per pound
White	Tin	$8 per pound
Red	Copper	$3 per pound
Red	Selenium Oxide	$4 per pound
Red	Uranium Oxide	$40 per pound
Blue	Copper	$3 per pound
Cranberry	Gold Chloride	$1,200 per ounce

By the way... the two pieces of glass in the photo below have EXACTLY the same "color number". They are cut from a single (larger) sheet of glass.
