ABOUT

CULTURAMA

CELEBRATE CULTURE WITH CULTURAMA

Culturama was founded in 2013 with the mission to promote and preserve the wealth of Algerian culture. There was always a need to highlight the uniquely rich Algerian arts & traditions, which have gone underrepresented on the global stage. We are driven by our unending passion for culture and cultural exchanges & regeneration.

Over the years, Culturama has grown from a small community center to a thriving hub of cultural activity, with a wide range of programmes and events that attract visitors from all over the world, focusing on Algerian music and culture.

DzFest is one of our favourite events!

WHAT WE DO

ABOUT

DZFEST

The Algerian Festival for Arts & Culture in the UK

The first British-Algerian Festival for Arts & Culture in the UK.

A culmination and a result of continuous efforts by the Algerian diaspora and the Algerian community in the UK to promote and celebrate its culture & heritage.

To celebrate the British-Algerian and other hybrid cultures between two identities through the Algerian diaspora. To bring & share the much vibrant & hugely diverse yet unknown Algerian culture to all UK & international Audiences, to promote engagement & raise awareness, but also bring the Algerian communities together at a time where social isolation is increasingly becoming a reality.

2026 will see the fourth edition of DzFest after a frank success with the previous editions in 2022, 2024 and 2025

OUR THEME

This year, DzFest 2026 is shaped by the theme Heritage & Decolonisation. Algeria's cultural heritage is vast, layered and deeply alive: carried through garments, music, language, film, ritual, memory, hospitality and everyday practice.

This edition moves beyond celebration alone. Through exhibitions, talks, film screenings, music, workshops, university partnerships and public conversations, DzFest invites audiences to revisit inherited narratives, challenge colonial framings, and explore how Algerian traditions continue to be preserved, transformed and transmitted across generations and across the diaspora.

At its heart, DzFest 2026 asks a simple but urgent question: who gets to define Algerian heritage, and how can communities reclaim the authority to tell their own stories?

Ink and Ancestry: The Disappearing Face Tattoos of Algeria

FRI 2 OCT 2026
6.30-9PM

TALK AND PARTICAPTORY WORKSHOP
PALESTINE HOUSE

Explore the history, symbolism, and digital preservation of Oucham [tattoos], the traditional facial markings of indigenous women across North Africa, in this ground-breaking session by researcher Yasmine Boudiaf.

For generations, these permanent geometric tattoos served as tribal identifiers, protective amulets, and sacred milestones of womanhood. Now on the brink of erasure, this ancient matriarchal practice is being revitalised through a modern lens.

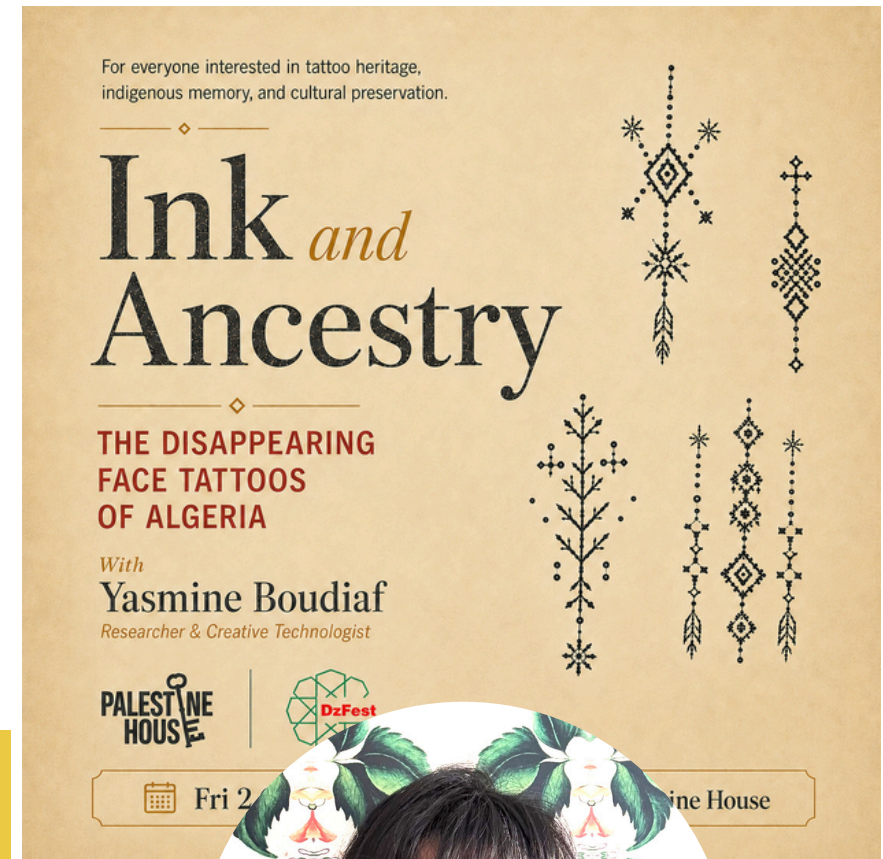

This session bridges ancestral tradition with modern technology, demonstrating how tools like artificial intelligence (AI) can be used ethically to archive indigenous memory, protect data justice, and combat cultural exploitation.

Yasmine BOUDIAF

An Algerian creative technologist and researcher based in London. She is a research fellow at UAL's Creative Computing Institute, a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts and previously at the Ada Lovelace Institute. She was recognised as one of '100 Brilliant Women in AI Ethics 2022'.

Her projects interrogate the impact of new technologies on cultural life using anti-colonial approaches.

Yasmine's project sits at the intersection of generative AI, intangible heritage, and decolonial practice. It responds to the urgent need to rethink AI infrastructures that rely on extractive data practices, high carbon footprints, and cultural appropriation.

Conference: Soundscapes of Al-Andalus – The Algerian Legacy London

UNIVERSITY OF EAST LONDON [UEL] . STRATFORD CAMPUS

Algeria's Al-Andalus music legacy: exploring Nouba music, Sana'a, Gharnati & Malouf via history, performance, gender & decolonial debate.

DzFest 2026 presents a landmark conference at the University of East London, bringing together musicologists, researchers and master musicians to explore Algeria's classical musical traditions and their relationship with the heritage commonly associated with Al-Andalus.

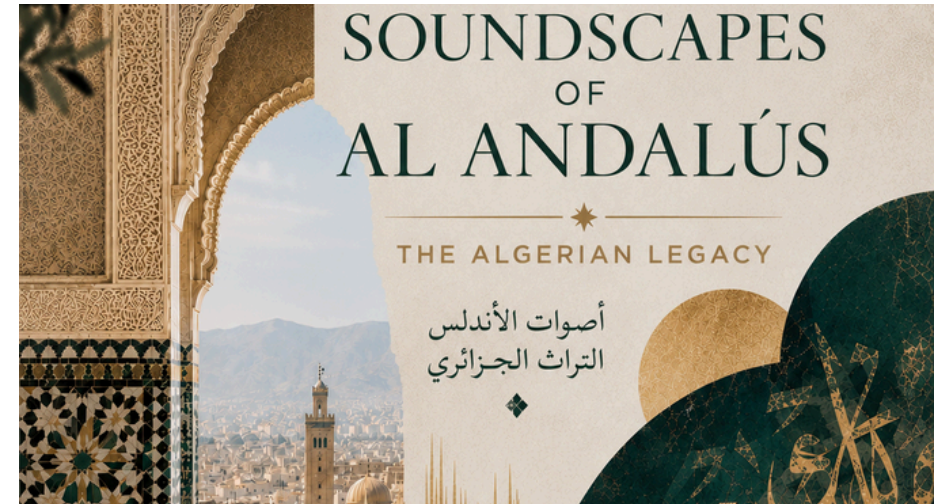

The conference will examine the Şana'a of Algiers, the Şan'a of Tlemcen [also known as Gharnati], and the Malouf of Constantine, while taking a critical view of simplified claims around direct Andalusian transmission.

Rather than treating origin as settled fact, the programme will explore how music, memory, migration and identity have shaped these repertoires across Algeria and within the diaspora.

Going beyond celebration, this event will challenge inherited narratives, revisit assumptions around the Nouba, and create a decolonial space for serious discussion on Algerian musical heritage, transmission and cultural memory.

By hosting this historical and cultural inquiry at the University of East London, DzFest draws on UEL and CMRB's diverse, community-centred academic environment to create an independent and decolonial space for indigenous, diasporic and transnational research.
