

Biography

Paul Hill is an Extension Professor for Utah State University where he leads economic development educational programs in rural counties through the Rural Online Initiative program that he founded in 2018. He is a past recipient of the Utah Governor's Medal for Science Technology as well as 25 other state and national awards for his innovative programs, impacts, research, and publications.