SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Live

Sunday Afternoon Live audiences are in for a rousing, thrilling, and soul-lifting musical experience when the American Legion Band comes to our stage at the historic Raymond Theatre on Sunday, June 22. This free concert will be especially meaningful since it takes place during the band's "Centennial Jubilee", a celebration of 100 years of magnificent performances.

In 1924, WWI veterans at American Legion Post No. 3 in Olympia started what is now the Department of Washington American Legion Band. Their first performance was for the Olympia Yacht Club on opening day in the spring of 1925, and they have performed annually on opening day ever since—except for the two years of the COVID pandemic, in 2020 and 2021.

Another fascinating historic fact about the Band is that member Major Robert MacArthur Crawford, a WW2 pilot (dubbed "The Flying Baritone" by Time Magazine), wrote the US Air Force Anthem, popularly known as "The Wild Blue Yonder". Major MacArthur also wrote "Loyal Legionnaires", dedicated to American Legion Post No. 3, a song the Band performs at every Post function.

Conductor Kevin Robertson is only the 18th conductor in the 100-year history of the Band. Mr Robertson, a retired career Army musician, has been with the Band since 2010. Mr Robertson first came on as an emergency substitute baritone horn player; he has been a band member, and now leader, ever since. His wife Amy Robertson is a vital part of the Band, serving on the executive board as well as handling media contacts, vocals, and announcing at performances. Notably, the Robertsons will be celebrating 40 years of marriage on the day of their Sunday Afternoon Live concert. Many congratulations to Amy and Kevin!

The American Legion Band truly has something for everyone: Songs from stage and screen, marches, novelty pieces, and their incredible musical tribute to the armed forces.

The American Legion Band members are all volunteers, donating their time and talents to share their unforgettable music with us. Don't miss this free concert!

The Department of Washington American Legion Band will perform this free concert on Sunday, June 22, at 2 PM at the historic Raymond Theatre at 323 3rd St in Raymond, WA. Admission is free, but donations are gratefully accepted. We'll see you there!
