

The British Journal of Professional Regulatory Law

PRIVACY POLICY

Introduction

Welcome to The British Journal of Professional Regulatory Law (BJPRL). This Privacy Policy outlines how we collect, use, and protect your personal data in compliance with the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UKGDPR) and associated regulations. This policy covers data collected by The British Journal of Professional Regulatory Law, c/o Philip Cowburn, 24 Western Drive, Leyland, Lancashire, PR25 1YB, editor@bjprl.co.uk.

Data Controller

The data controller for the personal data we collect is Philip Cowburn, who can be reached at editor@bjprl.co.uk.

Purpose of Data Processing

We collect and process personal data to effectively deliver the services of the journal. The categories of personal data we may collect include names, email addresses, job titles, and institution details. The lawful basis for processing this data may be consent, contractual necessity, or legal obligation.

Data Collection

We collect personal data through website forms and subscriber registration. Our website uses cookies with user consent for enhanced functionality and analytics.

Data Sharing

We may share personal data with third parties such as website and email providers, for the purpose of delivering our services.

International Data Transfers

We may transfer personal data to countries outside the UK or the European Economic Area (EEA). These transfers are safeguarded by the UK/US Privacy Shield/Data-Bridge framework.

Data Retention

We retain personal data for as long as it is required, based on a continuing risk-based assessment.

Data Subject Rights

To exercise your data subject rights, such as access, rectification, erasure, or data portability, please email editor@bjprl.co.uk. We will process your request within 14 days.

Security Measures

We take security measures to protect personal data, including password protection, anonymization where possible, and restricting access on a need-to-know basis. We adhere to best practice guidance from the Information Commissioner's Office.

Children's Data

We do not knowingly collect data from children under the age of 16.

Updates to Privacy Policy

We update our privacy policy yearly or when required. The new policy will be posted on our website.

Consent and Opt-Out

Consent for data processing is obtained when data is provided. You can opt out of data processing by emailing editor@bjprl.co.uk.

Complaints

If you have any complaints about our data processing practices, please email editor@bjprl.co.uk. We will handle complaints within 14 days.

By using our services, you agree to the practices described in this Privacy Policy. If you do not agree with the terms of this policy, please do not use our services.

This Privacy Policy was last updated on 31 October 2023

If you have any questions or concerns regarding this policy, please contact us at editor@bjprl.co.uk.