

this meeting
SHOULD HAVE been a podcast

Hosted by Tom Horne & Tom Schin

Ever zoned out in a meeting and thought, this could've been a podcast? Same. That's why we made one. This is the place where two Toms bring decades of HR and business experience to the mic, minus the corporate snooze-fest. We talk about the weird, messy, hilarious, and frustrating realities of work: culture clashes, leadership struggles, and the HR questions you secretly Google at 2am. With candid guest conversations, plenty of laughs, and insights that actually translate to real life, we're here to prove work talk doesn't have to be boring. Think of us as your meeting antidote — one part entertainment, one part inspiration, all parts "finally worth my time."

Join us as we take you on a journey of what your meetings COULD have been.
