

DRAGON MYTH

(Summary)

PRODUCTION NOTE

This Production was conceived on a Presentational Style Theatre, similar in style with most productions of "A Midsummers Night's Dream". The lighting is very stark, with pools of light creating playing areas. The set of multi-level platforms is changed by adding various dressing and props. The key is to be elegant, simple and stylized.

THE PLOT

DRAGON MYTH transports us to the mystical world of Crystallynn. Where magic is an energy manipulated by sound and light; tapped from a parallel universe ruled by the Dragon! Meet the insane Dorraena, Dragon Singer of Crystallynn. Warped by a cruel twist of fate, she is intent on destroying the world she can never truly rule. Know Devon, the Crested, chosen by "The Powers" to be Crystallynn's new High King. And Shelley, the lost Singer born to love him and sing the Lyric Rune of Calling and open a passage way between the parallel universe luring the Dragon, Master of Magic into the world of Crystallynn to link his mind with the High King, binding him to the world and solidifying the magical passage way of power between the two universes and rule Crystallynn in peace once more. Guided by the Immortal Masters, Caretakers of Crystallynn, Devon and Shelley lock in a bitter battle of good and evil, in a desperate attempt to thwart Dorraena, tame a Dragon and save their world.

IN THE BEGINNING

Crystallynn is a world of Magic. Where each female receives a magical power bestowed upon her from her Matriarchal side at the age of Womanhood. This "Gift" is her dowry, and her mate's strength gives power to her "Gift". With the aid of the Masters, The High King, (THE CRESTED) and the High Priestess, the (DRAGON SINGER) rule. So it has been since time beginning. The union of the "Divine Couple" brings forth only one child, the next Dragon Singer. She will marry the finest male of her generation, marked by "The Powers That Be" with a Dragon Crest upon his chest at the Trials of Manhood. And so it went for generations untold. Until one time, twin daughters were born to the Divine couple, growing up as mirror reflections of each other. But only one Crested . . . Loric, was born to the world. Only one Singer . . . could call the Dragon. Loric was forced to choose. He chose Shellaena. While Dorreana, lying in her chambers alone each night, feeling every emotion, every passion her sister felt, slowly went mad. . Til one night, in a jealous rage, she pushed Loric from the Palace tower to fall to his death below. Dorraena went insane, and Shellaena knowing all that happened, died from grief in child birth. Living long enough to command the child be raised in secret, proclaiming both mother & daughter lost. Kissing the babe she names her Shelley and leaves the world as her tiny daughter enters. And so our story begins.
