Cindy Adams

FOLLOWING its longtime run at Don't Tell Mama, Robert Cabell's singing play "2 Hearts Over Easy" opens tomorrow. Actors' Playhouse, Seventh Avenue South. Opening night party, directly across the street, is at Angela Boone's Pennyfeathers.

The musical is about relationships. Married, not married, straight, not straight. And the music is what it's all about. Note to Whitney Houston or Michael Bolton or Liza Minnelli: Catch the show. Catch these songs.

"2 Hearts Over Easy" continues its run at the Actors' Playhouse (100 Seventh Ave. S., 212-691-6226). Written by Robert W. Cabell, this musical is strictly a NY story - two best friends, one a divorced woman, the other a gay man, meet for Sunday brunch and talk about loves, lives, dreams and disappointments. Several of my friends have seen it and found it touching and charming. I plan to go soon. In the cast are Melanie Dmitri, Bill Ebbesmeyer, Randy Weiss and Maggie Wirth.
