Volume 11, Issue VII

Basket Weavers Guild of Oklahoma

February 2012

President's Column

Greetings BWGOK Members,

At our January BWGOK meeting we took a field trip. We had a delightfully short meeting, then went to see a Coffin Basket at an Oklahoma City antique dealer, then went to the Winter Quilt Show at the Cox Convention Center. It was really fun being spontaneous. Our Quilt Show booth was a good success, and there were lots of ideas and enthusiasm there.

At the Quilt Show and at other shows and demonstrations we find people who are interested in learning to weave baskets. Our program for the March BWGOK meeting is always our Beginners' Class. This is a service our organization provides each year. Jo Ann Miller and Pat Horsey are in charge for meeting on March 10th. They are preparing to teach a beginning 'Napkin Basket' with all materials provided by the Guild. We will have many beginners, so we will need many of you intermediate and advanced weavers to help and provide much individual attention and help.

This time we DO ask you to bring food for the meeting. Bring lots because the beginners will arrive early and want to join us for lunch and snacks during the afternoon. The Guild meeting will begin at 10:00AM as usual, and the beginning weavers will be arriving about 11:00AM.

I look forward to seeing you all at the meeting and then the Beginners' Class!
(My countdown continues. By our May meeting I will be a retired person and Avid Basket Weaver!)

Onita, BWGOK President

From our Arkansas Neighbors: 38th Annual Dogwood Festival Upcoming April 27-29

Dear BWGOK Craftspeople:

The Dogwood Festival has been an annual event in Siloam Springs, Arkansas since 1974 and has been successful in attracting large crowds each year. In addition, booth spaces will be provided at no cost to crafters who wish to demonstrate their crafting skills. More information is available at <http://www.siloamchamber.com/dogwood-festival> or by contacting Mr. Eddie Loyd, Festival Improvement Committee, Phone: 479-524-4343 X302, e-mail: eddie@altdesign.com.
