What's Brewing?

As we go to press, Summer 2025 is likely to go down as the driest summer in the UK since 1976. Drought reveals things which have been hidden, challenges what we value, where we put our security and can shape how we live our lives going forward.

As the seasons change and in the run up to Christmas, why not pause to reflect on who/what is most important to us and prioritise our time and energy accordingly.

We would appreciate suggestions for future articles, and any feedback, to whatsbrewing@harvestchurch.uk Enjoy!

The joy of the harvest

Harvest Church is called to tell people about the Good News that Jesus died for them, freeing them from sin, guilt, shame, and fear; defeating death; and remaking the world into a new creation. In the 'Great Commission', Jesus told his first followers to make 'apprentices' ('disciples') of people from every nation, teaching them how to follow and obey him.

At Together Weekend, Andrew Lawrence shared a picture he felt was from God. The picture was of a painting depicting a traditional harvest scene, with dozens of people working the fields, excited and active to gather in the harvest.

He believes God was reminding us of the joy to be had being involved in God's harvest. The Bible uses 'harvest' language to refer to telling people about Jesus and helping them grow as apprentices that follow him.

Talking to his disciples, Jesus says,

"The harvest is plentiful, but the labourers are few;
therefore pray earnestly to the Lord of the harvest to send out labourers into his harvest."

Matthew 9:37–38

God wants us to remember that we're called 'Harvest Church.' This isn't to pressure us; rather, it's to invite us to join in everything Jesus is doing in Alton and the surrounding areas, like apprentices following our master. He's calling us back to the harvest.

We have lots of ways we can do this, especially over the Christmas season. One highlight will be Adrian Holloway speaking at our Christmas Carol Service on 14 December. Everyone is welcome.

Following that we have an Alpha course starting in January. This is a great way to explore the basics of the Christian faith in a relaxed environment that's open to questions. Read Nicola and Susie's stories of Alpha on pages 22 & 23.

We'd like to encourage you to pray for who you can invite at Christmas or to Alpha. While you do, pray that you would be bold in telling them about your love for Jesus and all he's done for you.

We love shining a light on our team members who help keep Alton Maltings running smoothly. From setting up spaces to making sure everything is clean, calm, and welcoming, there's a dedicated group working behind the scenes to support everything that happens here. This time, we're introducing two more members of our team each with their own story and a big part to play in the life of our building.

Karen Patrick
Head of Operations

"Since 2019, I've been the overseeing the operations for Harvest Church and Alton Maltings, juggling a dual role that keeps me on my toes. I support our leaders, running events throughout the week, and overseeing policies for the many ministries that serve our church and local community. It's a busy and rewarding role that's always evolving."

"At Alton Maltings, I oversee everything from client-facing activities and managing our Centre Assistants and Bookings Officer, to big picture stuff like booking software, pricing strategies, and building management etc. Alton Maltings is a Grade II listed building so keeping it safe, efficient, and environmentally friendly is a challenge, but one love tackling."

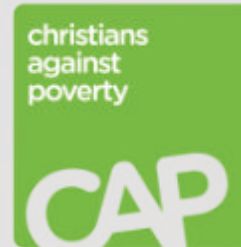

Glenys Wyeth
Cleaner

"I started at Alton Maltings as a volunteer during the summer of 2024. I now work two days a week cleaning, sorting, re-arranging... anything to be of help to the smooth running of the centre."

"Working here has been very rewarding. It has renewed my confidence, allowed me to work in a team, and given me the opportunity to meet so many wonderful people of all ages, from babies to the older generation, who come for the many different classes, events, conferences, business meetings, and other activities."

"I'm also part of the team that runs our Stepping Stones toddler group on a Monday. A smile and a 'hello' often start little conversations that, hopefully, help make all our days a little brighter."

Childrens and youth groups on a Sunday morning.

Ministry Leader

MIRACLE GROW!

Hands up who has been praying for more children in our church? Don't stop because its working!! Our average weekly Sunday attendance has grown from 33 in May 2024 to 48 in May 2025. One week we had over 60 children! The two new groups have been really well received but has stretched our team to the max, so if you can offer any help at all please contact Hannah or one of the other leaders to chat about how you can help.

BUBBLES AND HARBOUR

Our two new groups have felt like a real answer to our prayers of how to best serve our children. Feedback from children, parents and the team seem pretty unanimous that the new set up is working well.

This term we particularly enjoyed our time at the Church Together Weekend on the farm where we spent time chatting to and listening to God, and galivanting around the woods seeing how nature reflects the character of God. Spending time playing sports and catching crickets was a great friendship building time.

We carried on this theme of friendship in this term's 'The Source Big Sunday' looking at the story of Daniel and his friends in the Old Testament and how their friendship helped to sustain their faith. Team challenges and artistic creations were the activities of choice to put our friendships to the test and an awesome time of worship lead by the youth band helped us express our gratitude to God.

GETTING INVOLVED WITH THE SOURCE

There are plenty of opportunities to be part of what God is doing among our children. Whether through crafts, storytelling, games, or simply showing up as a friendly, consistent presence. If you're passionate about encouraging young faith and want to find out how you can play a part, I'd love to hear from you. Get in touch with me at hannah.turner@harvestchurch.uk to explore how you can get involved.

Plus... Extra Adventures!

Every term, we plan at least one offsite event think laser tag, late-night walks, movie nights, and more. Keep an eye out, you won't want to miss them.

YLG is all about community, growing in faith, and having a great time while doing it. Come and see what it's all about!

BAPTISMS

Susie

Although I have always had some amount of faith and belief in Christianity, my curiosity developed after facing some significant trauma. I developed a severe eating disorder as a result and have spent the last few years battling this, with several lengthy hospital admissions.

A year ago, I was taken very ill and rushed to hospital, where my family and I were told there was a high chance of me dying.

I believe through deep prayer God blessed me and a miracle happened. I made improvements over the next few days that the doctors could not explain. My drive and want to get well completely changed and I finally felt ready to tackle my illness knowing

God loves me and drawing strength from that knowledge. Although it is currently a daily battle, I know I have God by my side and faith that I will overcome this and be able to return to my role as a paramedic practitioner in the near future, which I believe is my calling.

Since then, I have gone on to do the Alpha course, which has helped me to answer many of my questions and to be filled with the Holy Spirit. I have taken part in a Bible studies course and First Steps. Each day I am developing as a new Christian and connecting with God through daily Bible study and prayer. I have finally found what was missing in my life. My relationship with God.

Our next Exploring baptism group is on 29 September 2025 at 7.30pm just turn up or contact admin@harvestchurch.uk for more information.

Nicola

My name is Nicola. You may know that if you were at church on Easter Sunday when I was baptised along with three others, including my sons Ben and Finn. We moved to Alton from Guildford about ten years ago and now live in Four Marks.

I was drawn to attend Alpha after picking up a leaflet during the Christmas service, when I came to see my sister play cello in the Alton Concert Orchestra. As a counsellor and psychotherapist, I was curious to explore faith and spirituality to better support clients, or so I told myself. But once Alpha began, I realised that reason masked a deeper longing for my own spiritual growth.

For twenty years I had seen Alpha advertised and been curious, but never taken the step.

The course was transformational. Each week seemed to answer the questions I had been carrying, as though it were written just for me.

I had a thirst for connection, understanding, and truth, and each session became a beacon in my week.

In week 3, we looked at William Holman Hunt's painting The Light of the World. Seeing Jesus outside the closed door of my heart, I thought all I had to do was open it. So I did, but felt nothing. Just emptiness and unworthiness. A few days later, sorrow and regret overwhelmed me. I wept and cried out to Jesus, confessed everything, and asked to start again. He was there. He filled me with peace and relief. That was the moment I truly opened the door.

Baptism followed as a joyful and public declaration of my faith. I felt an urgency to come to Jesus. Since then, I have done the First Steps course, which is helping me learn to share the good news and move beyond the place I started, denying my own curiosity, which was really denying Jesus.

If you have even a tiny seed of curiosity about faith, whatever reason feels safe right now, I would say sign up for Alpha and be amazed.

Getting to Know... Sarah from Yarn and Natter

Sarah has been part of Harvest Church since her early twenties and leads Yarn and Natter — a friendly, welcoming group that brings people together over knitting, crochet, conversation and cake. We caught up with her to find out more about the story behind the group, what it means to her, and why it matters.

How did Yarn and Natter begin?

The group started in September 2019. I had been teaching knitting and crochet at home, and I was asked if there were any local groups where folks could meet up to share ideas and help each other with projects. It felt like a natural next step, and it grew from there.

Who is the group for?

It's open to anyone. No previous experience is needed. We can provide yarn to get people started and loan knitting needles and crochet hooks if they don't have their own. Everyone is welcome.

What draws people in, and how do you welcome newcomers?

It's the conversation and sharing of ideas that people enjoy most. Some come to craft, others just for a chat and the cake helps too!

We're always happy to welcome newcomers. I'm available for a chat beforehand, and if we know someone's coming, we'll meet them at the door and show them in.

The group has helped people feel settled and connected. One lady joined after moving to Alton, hoping to make friends, she's still coming now. We've shared life's ups and downs together, and even kept meeting outdoors during lockdown when we could.

What are the benefits of knitting and crochet beyond the crafting itself?

Knitting and crochet are more than hobbies. They are therapeutic activities that can positively impact mental health and well-being. The rhythmical nature of the movements has a calming effect and can be a healthy distraction during stressful times. Finishing a project, whether simple or complex, gives a real sense of accomplishment and can boost self-esteem.

Do you think people come more for the craft or for the community?

I think people come mainly for the connection with others. Crafting gives them a focus, but it's really about being together.

Have friendships formed through the group?

Yes, people genuinely look forward to seeing each other and to sharing the progress they've made with their projects. It's become a real place of community.

What sort of projects have people worked on?

There have been some real standout creations. Crocheted scarves and shawls, blankets, children's jumpers and cardigans, and adult garments. One lady recently adapted a pattern to make a beautiful summer crochet cardigan and brought the finished project along to show everyone.

What values shape the group?

Three words come to mind:

Generosity — We give away surplus yarn and lend patterns. Attendance is free, including the homemade cake.

Genuine — We help each other and give honest feedback when asked.

Safe — Everyone is welcome and included.

What does leading the group mean to you?

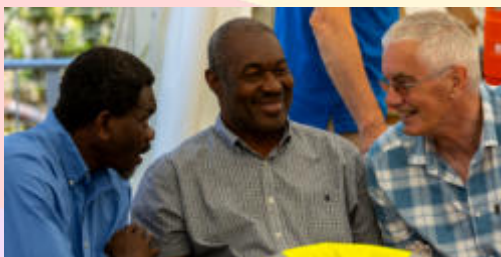

I love leading this group and enjoy seeing everyone each month. The group has also been incredibly supportive to me during a season of poor health. It's a special community that goes far beyond the craft.

TOGETHER WEEKEND

By Debbie Haddow

In the middle of July, members of Harvest Church gathered at Old Soldridge Farm for Together Weekend. Two days of sunshine, eating, worship, and time to simply enjoy being with one another.

It was a chance to pause, connect, and celebrate all that it means to be church.

Wall to wall sun, a large field, great company, and a hog roast, what more do you need for a fun weekend. I personally really enjoyed the relaxed vibe, the chance to catch up with so many people, and not least, the generosity of Graham and Sue, who let us use their farm.

Not forgetting the many volunteers needed to make everything run smoothly, from the sound system, the worship team, welcomers, caterers, (lots of yummy cakes!) children's activities, and the unsung heroes who put up and took down the marquees.

We started each day with a time of worship followed by inspirational speakers, Adrian Holloway and Tim Blaber. A highlight of the weekend was joyfully welcoming Tim Suffield into Eldership on Sunday, a special and significant moment for our church. There was also plenty of time to chat, knit, stretch (Pilates), dance in the silent disco, have a wander round the farm, or go for a longer walk, just enjoying each other's company in a super relaxing environment. I really enjoyed the buzz of seeing everyone getting along together, while the younger people safely let off steam enjoying both organised and less organised fun.

It made me appreciate more than ever, that being part of the local church is about being part of each other's lives, whether that's in a Life Group, in a serving team, or at a special event like Together weekend.
