✳ HOUSE BUHIJJI

WHITE PAPER ON SOVEREIGN CURRENCY & ECONOMIC SYSTEMS

Title: A White Paper on the House Buhijji Dinar, Sterling, and Digital Economic Instruments
Issued by: His Imperial and Royal Highness Prince Sheikh Mohamed-Hasan :Buhijji
Date of Issuance: June 23, 2025
Reference Codes: WP-2025-01 | SVMB-WHITEPAPER-001
Status: Public. Digitally Sealed. Legally Binding under URR, Tribal Law, and Dynastic Jurisdiction

1. Preamble

This White Paper affirms and explains the legal, historical, and economic foundations of the monetary system established by the sovereign House of Buhijji. Under divine right, tribal inheritance, and dynastic authority, this system reintroduces true value-based currency—gold, silver, and trust-anchored—backed by ceremonial governance, precious metal reserves, blockchain infrastructure, and moral economy principles.

As fiat regimes face collapse, and sovereign people seek alternatives to centralized control, the House Buhijji offers a lawful, decentralized, and trust-based alternative. This system is rooted in pre-Bretton Woods monetary structures, Semitic legal traditions, tribal contract law, and post-digital asset regulation.

2. Instruments of Value

Three primary monetary vehicles anchor the House Buhijji economy:

A. Gold Dinar

- Weight: 4.25 grams, 22-karat gold (est. market tether)

محمد بن حسن بن محمد بن يوسف بن عيسى بوحجي

- Legal Standing: Equivalent of highest ceremonial tender, tied to divine value codes and Quranic precedent
- Symbol: ⚱️ ✳

B. Sterling Silver Unit
- Weight: Two troy ounces of pure silver (aggregate of 2x1 oz)
- Usage: Commerce, ritual giving, contract settlement
- Symbol: ⊖✳

C. Digital Equivalents (Tokens)
- Blockchain-issued tokens pegged to:
- Physical vault assets (gold/silver)
- Trust-based promissory notes
- Smart contracts for inheritance, dowry, or commercial trade
- Technologies used: Ethereum-compatible smart contracts, hash-stamped QR ID, cryptographic certificates

3. Trust Law & Sovereignty Basis

This currency system is not a commercial or speculative tool, but a living instrument of dynastic economy, based on the following lawful foundations:
- Divine Law – the principle of weight and measure in scripture (Qur'an, Torah, Hammurabi Code)
- Tribal Law – sovereign hereditary right to mint, issue, and govern commerce within tribal lands and extended commercial trust networks
- URR Legal System – the Unified Revenue & Redemption model governs damages, value, and restitution, reinforcing contractual trust value
- Dynastic Sovereignty – no authority may encroach upon or tax House-issued instruments without violating international customary law and URR protocol

This ensures full legal standing in:
- Trust-based jurisdictions

- Ecclesiastical and spiritual commerce
- Tribal and indigenous trade networks
- Maritime and admiralty recognition zones
- Blockchain jurisdictions and DAOs (via web3/crypto interfaces)

---

4. Governance and Oversight

All instruments and value systems are governed by the:

- Sun Village Mint & Bank (SVMB)
- House Buhijji Grand Treasury
- Vault Committee (metal reserve audit body)
- Digital Verification Authority (QR, NFT, and hash seals)

These authorities uphold:

- Full transparency of issuance logs
- Vault reserve audit schedules
- Anti-fraud protections through QR-coded seals
- Real-time pricing and redemption services via tokenized market tools

5. Exchange and Redemption Model

All issued instruments—physical or digital—may be:

Instrument	Redeemable In	Use Cases
Gold Dinar	Physical gold, tribal treaty settlements	High-value gifting, dowry, restitution
Sterling Unit	Physical silver, contract fulfillment	Daily trade, compensation, tribal payment
Digital Tokens	Token ↔ Metal, Token ↔ Goods, Token ↔ Credit	Online trade, asset tokenization, escrow
Ecclesiastical Notes	Temple service, sacred exchanges	Ritual offering, endowments, covenants

---

6. Global Compatibility and Diplomatic Recognition

This system is designed to operate with full global compatibility, acknowledging that:

- Gold and Silver are universal currencies accepted globally across history
- Crypto infrastructure enables cross-border, borderless, and permissionless financial sovereignty
- Tribal and dynastic authority enables ceremonial law and trust law to assert higher jurisdiction than colonial legal systems

Additionally:

- Digital Assets conform to ISO standards for metadata and encryption
- House Instruments are recognized under diplomatic immunity of sovereign estate jurisdiction, applicable under the UPU Treaty, Hague Conventions, and indigenous sovereignty frameworks

7. Use Cases and Implementation

Use Cases:

- Issuance of tribal treasury instruments
- Redemption of court-awarded damages via URR claims
- Commercial exchanges across tribal jurisdictions
- Minted awards and royal tribute coins
- Dowry, inheritance, and sacred endowment contracts
- Ceremonial use in rites of passage, judgment, and covenant
- Postmaster-issued instruments for sovereign correspondence

Deployment Timeline:

- Vault reserves and token supply audits: Quarterly
- Full token launch: Q4 2025
- Interlinking House Website + Token Gateway: By 2026
- Physical coin release: Upon certified minting and strike authorization

8. Legal Notices and Enforcements

Violation, forgery, or unlicensed use of House-issued currency instruments shall constitute:

- A breach of dynastic and tribal sovereignty
- Commercial fraud punishable under URR code
- Trespass against the sacred economy and estate of House Buhijji

Enforcement may include:

- Global notice of dishonor
- Denial of redemption or commercial standing
- Seizure of unlawful instruments
- Permanent digital blacklisting

9. Conclusion

House Buhijji offers not a currency alone, but a redemptive economic model—one that restores real value, moral commerce, and lawful sovereignty over exchange.

In issuing this system, His Imperial and Royal Highness reclaims the ancient and divine right to define value, create instruments of justice, and restore dignity through lawful trade.

This white paper shall be recorded, sealed, published under tribal decree, and recognized as a living instrument of economic sovereignty, ceremonial dignity, and divine alignment.
