

Notice of Right to Good Faith Estimate

Your Right to a Good Faith Estimate

As a client, you have the right to receive a Good Faith Estimate (GFE) explaining the expected costs of your health care services. This right is provided under federal law and applies to individuals who:

- Do not have health insurance.
- Choose not to use their health insurance for services provided by this practice.

What is a Good Faith Estimate?

A Good Faith Estimate provides an estimate of the total expected costs of your care, including:

- Fees for professional services provided by this practice.
- Any related costs, such as medical tests, prescription drugs, equipment, or other applicable fees if coordinated directly through this practice.

When Will I Receive a Good Faith Estimate?

Upon request, a GFE will be provided within 3 business days.

For scheduled services:

- If your appointment is scheduled at least 10 business days in advance, your GFE will be provided within 3 business days.
- If your appointment is scheduled at least 3 business days in advance, your GFE will be provided within 1 business day.

What If My Bill Exceeds the Good Faith Estimate?

If you receive a bill that is at least $400 more than your Good Faith Estimate, you have the right to dispute the charges.

You may initiate a dispute by contacting the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) within 120 calendar days of receiving the bill.

Questions or More Information

If you have questions about your Good Faith Estimate or need further assistance, please:

Visit: www.cms.gov/nosurprises/consumers.

Email: FederalPPDRQuestions@cms.hhs.gov.

Call: 1-800-985-3059.

This notice is provided to ensure transparency about the cost of care and your rights under the No Surprises Act.