Medicare's Advanced Primary Care Management (APCM) services

We provide personalized and supportive care through streamlined care plans, proactive coordination, and integrated digital communication tools. Advanced Primary Care Management (APCM), which bundles primary care services with care management and communication technology-based services (CTBS), is designed to address common challenges in primary care, such as gaps in continuity of care and insufficient reimbursement for comprehensive services. Chronic Care Management (CCM), Transitional Care Management (TCM), and Principal Care Management (PCM) are the care management services included in this primary care-driven APCM program. APCM distinguishes itself from other care management services because it must be driven by the patient's primary provider, categorizes patients based on their needs, and utilizes quality measures to evaluate program effectiveness.
