

What is Pax Americana and why should we care? Because not understanding leaves us incredibly vulnerable.

It's a term applied to the concept of relative peace in the Western Hemisphere and later in the world after the end of World War II in 1945, when the United States^[4] became the world's dominant economic and military power. There have been many Pax's, Pax Romana, Pax Britannica until about WWI, and now the end of Pax Americana.

The world is about to change as dramatically at the end of this dynasty as much as any other, maybe more so.

In one week -Iran and Saudi Arabia are now Allies, thanks to Xi the "Peace Maker"...
-His next stop in Moscow he announced his new partnership with Russia, including full support of resources AND CURRENCY... as per Tucker Carlson

We are seeing, living realtime the old proverb of history repeating itself and the collapse of another empire, this time Americas. Two weeks ago I spoke of the historical correlation to "The Long Fuse Report" named after the turn of the century report on the run up to WWI and the foundation of the J-6 hearings, and who compiled it. Again we have to look to history to understand the correlation of today's most critical, potentially impactful situations in order to grasp the magnitude of the news you ARE NOT RECEIVING.

Now to be clear, I'm not announcing the end of the American Empire, Presidents Putin and Xi Jinping are though. That should have every American's blood chilled, boiling when the American people fully grasp the involvement whether through ineptitude or corruption of not just President Biden but maybe even the majority of the American political apparatus, the USA has been dangerously damaged. Sadly, the whole world outside of the west knows it. According to the 2 Presidents, America as a superpower is about to be no more. Thank a Democrat or Military Industrial Complex profiteer near you.

They are announcing the end of the "One World, Unipolar, or Rules Based Order" AND the US dollar as international reserve currency. This is the biggest news in more than 100 years and MSM is not telling Americans. Instead they are running around chasing Trump with misdemeanours while 5th Gen warfare is being coordinated by Xi Jinping against America via the "Climate Crisis". Exactly what Rich Higgins warned us about. Meanwhile MSM headlines are running with the head of the UN screaming for America to continue demolishing its entire economy, to save the world from climate change, and of course Biden is all in on it because it's only America's fault of course right??? ... that's why we are getting ESG while the rest of the known universe turns its back on America. Americans are the Carbon they want to reduce.

The UN tells us "climate time bomb is ticking" but only in America (and Canada) apparently. The same UN proxy song and dance we've heard since 1989, in 1989 they predicted entire nations would be wiped off the face of the earth by 2000, yet Plymouth rock stands firmly in place, the same place since 1620. Just days ago they claimed 2/3 of carbon pollution must be reversed by 2035 “or else”. “Humanity is on thin ice and it’s melting fast” according to the UN Secretary General...

Their solution is clear, western economies must destroy themselves, meanwhile China is free of climate diligence and accountability while building 2 new coal plants every week, more than 104 per year. According to the UN our obligation is a 33% higher expenditure to fix the climate than any other nation. China creates 2X the carbon of America but America bears a 33% higher responsibility? The UN Climate report suggests “Actions that prioritize equity, climate justice, social justice, and inclusion lead to more sustainable outcomes, co-benefits, support transformative change and advance climate resilient development” “Adaptation responses are immediately necessary to reduce rising climate risks, especially for the most vulnerable. Equity, inclusion and “Just Transitions” are key to progress on adaptation and deeper societal ambitions” oh, and Indigenous knowledge”

Is it coincidence that the UN’s WHO refers to Taiwan as “Chinese Taipei”? that America is proxy fighting Iranian troops in Syria? provoking China in the SCS and Taiwan? that the un are draining all of NATO and America's resources? Is it coincidence that for the first time in more than 5 centuries, since US President Franklin Roosevelt, Soviet Leader Joseph Stalin, and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill met in USSR-run Crimea in 1945, no Western political leader is at the table setting the “World Agenda”

While our media circuses have us all running around like crybabies Putin and Xi are setting the stage for the new multi-polar world, western leaders bet the farm on the uni-polar world, and they are losing, especially in the “Global South”, Honduras just dumped Taiwan as an ally and established relations with China (Taiwan supplies drones to Ukraine)

Xi and Putin explained it all in detail before their summit. Like a highly-synchronized Russian ballet, Putin’s vision was laid out in the People’s Daily in China, focusing on a “future partnership,” while Xi’s was published in the Russian Gazette and the RIA Novosti website focusing on cooperation and common development. From the start of the summit, the speeches by both Xi and Putin drove the NATO crowd into a hysterical foaming at the mouth. Xi and Putin talked for no less than four and a half hours at their 1st meeting. At the end, Putin personally escorted Xi to his limo. This conversation was the real deal: mapping out the lineaments of multipolarity – which starts with a Ukraine solution. Putin politely stressed he respects China’s position (rejected by U.S.) but the Russian position remains ironclad: demilitarization, Ukrainian neutrality. In parallel, the Russian Foreign Ministry completely ruled out a role for the US, UK, France, and Germany in future Ukraine negotiations: they are not considered neutral mediators.

Putin touting Nazi-free Mariupol, Xi’s Op-Ed, Putins report, was all part of Putin’s response to the reaper drone hysteria and International Criminal Court charades. Foam all you want, we will humiliate NATO in the Ukraine

On day 2, it was all business. Russia already ranks first as a natural gas supplier to China – surpassing Turkmenistan and Qatar – most of it via the 3,000 km Power of Siberia pipeline that runs from Siberia to China’s northeastern Heilongjiang province, launched in December 2019. Negotiations on the Power of Siberia II pipeline via Mongolia are advancing fast. Sino-Russian cooperation in high-tech will go through the roof with 79 projects at more than $165 Billion, (LNG) to aircraft construction, machine tool construction, space research, agro-industry, and upgraded economic corridors. President Xi wants to link the New Silk Road projects to the Eurasia Economic Union (EAEU). This BRI-EAEU interpolation is a natural evolution. China has already signed an economic cooperation deal with the EAEU

Last and perhaps most importantly, a new drive towards mutual settlements in national currencies between Asia, Africa, and Latin America. For all practical purposes, Putin endorsed the role of the Chinese yuan as the new trade currency of choice while the complex discussions on a new reserve currency backed by gold and/or commodities proceed and promise to remake vast swaths of west Asia and Africa.

It’s not even close to coincidental that Xi’s trip to Moscow exactly coincides with the 20 anniversary of American ‘Shock and Awe’ and the illegal invasion, occupation, and destruction of Iraq. In parallel, over 40 delegations from Africa arrived in Moscow a day before President Xi to take part in a “Russia-Africa Multipolar World” parliamentary conference – a run-up to the second Russia-Africa summit next July. The surrounding area of the Duma looked just like the old Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) days when most of Africa kept very close anti-imperialist relations with the USSR. Putin also chose this exact moment to write off more than $20 billion in African debt.

On West Asia, Russia and China (jump started by Russia) are totally in synch: <https://thecradle.co/article-view/22445/exclusive-the-hidden-security-clauses-of-the-iran-saudi-deal> with Russia coordinating the Syria-Turkey negotiations. With Iran now under strategic partnership status, it's kept on a separate track.

In perhaps the biggest blow to US Hegemony (and narrative) sources confirm that Chinese intelligence, via its own investigations, is now fully assured of Putin’s vast popularity across Russia, and even within the country’s political elites.

That means conspiracies of the regime-change variety are out of the question. This was fundamental for Xi and China’s central HQ’s decision to “bet” on Putin as a trusted partner in the coming years, China is always about continuity in case you wonder where our leaders get the excuse “continuity of governance” from.

The meetings concluded with a few simple statements:

President Xi: “Now, there are changes that haven’t happened in 100 years. When we are together, we drive these changes.”

Putin: “I agree.”

Xi: “Take care, dear friend.”

Putin: "Have a safe trip."

China and Russia are now locked in as comprehensive strategic partners for the long haul, committed to developing serious geopolitical and geoeconomics competition with declining western hegemonies. What Putin had previously defined as a new anti-colonial policy is now laid out as a multipolar patchwork quilt. There's no turning back on the demolition of the remnants of Pax Americana, and here we are at the end of the Pax Americana, a global change not seen in 100 years.

What does it all mean?

We are witnessing a historic shift in the making, even a revival of Confucianism (respect for authority, emphasis on social harmony), the equilibrium inherent to the Tao, and the spiritual power of Eastern Orthodoxy. This is not just a cultural fight, it's a civilizational fight and we don't get much of a say any more.

What is the point of all the Climate marketing and narratives? Knock down one civilization and replace it with another, of course it has nothing to do with the environment. Since the 1940's and Julian Huxley depopulation narrative the agencies in charge like Unesco have been doing exactly that. The science behind this is that there is no science, only conquest, and Biden is either in on it or the most useful idiot in human history, Russia is the world's largest energy provider, Saint Greta gets a degree, the Yuan will be the world reserve currency, and Americans will pay dearly, perhaps forever.
