How many times (by cmckenzie © 2018)

How Many times must we watch ... You die...

It appears it may begin when the ambulance is neither called, nor delayed, nor from bad decisions by you, but because your body is not in control.

It appears it may begin once quickly jolted to the gurney – because your arms could not brace your body.

It appears that at stabilized notices – you seemed to cease dying ... but then endlessly poked, your body recoiling at each jab as no one knew what reaction your toes might have.

It appears you could die once cleared to leave for home – as trees and birds, grass and soft wind offer comfort. This kindness from nature soothed your soul but couldn't stop views of you as useless.

For you see – or perhaps you felt – being in conversation with your soul while others were attempting to converse about you being the actual problem – you gained a sense of calm for you, for always

It appears you can begin dying again no matter having done nothing but exist in time. It appears we should begin to accept you began dying at your conception and first earthly breath – when they recorded a Black, African, African American male was breathing, responding, delightfully, as one ought.

It appears if you hadn't known then, as you know now your soul always had strength to take over and so you set out as you should have. It is the world's mistaken plans – not bothering to notice like us, you had plans & desires of growth but then...

It appears as another shiny closing casket lid gives permanency leading our steps to watch you instead go another step closer to His time, this day God assigned for you to follow His footsteps. So rather than disagree with His decision –

As both of you offered us again options accepting your valuable lives as you now move to be on beautifully lined steps toward a hello with God because the death of your existence began due to some risk from where ~ because they said so ~ yet delightfully we will now care for you before another must go or not achieve.

To honor African American & African males before...
