Common Beauty: Oh, For Eyes to See

Poems from Details: The Poetic Language of God

1. Where have you gotten stuck in a rut of seeing or thinking from one vantage point?
2. What details have stood out or caught your attention today, beckoning you to see from a new perspective? To appreciate a moment or person or piece of beauty?
3. Pause. Breathe deeply. Build an altar of worship in your heart and mind at this point of view. How does this strengthen you to move forward?

"I would have lost heart, unless I had believed that I would see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living." Psalm 27:13 NKJV
