

Official Short Bio
Amy Layne Litzelman
2025

Amy Layne Litzelman has learned the joy of allowing God to be profound in her simplicity. Through the ups and downs, she has discovered a Creator who wants to be seen in the details, known in the mysteries, and trusted with every breath.

Amy's seventh book, This Beloved Road: A Journey of Revelation and Worship (2nd Edition), recently received the 2025 Christlit Book of the Year award in the Devotional category.

As an author, teacher, and worship mentor, Amy shares personal stories and practices from her journey to teach others to hear God's laughter, receive His wisdom, witness His power, and recognize His astonishing love, joy, and beauty. In this, we each become who we were uniquely created to be and partner with the Holy Spirit in unexpected ways.

Amy is also a journalist, singer-songwriter, musician, foodie, wife, mom, and grandma. She and her husband, Matt, live near Dillon, MT.