

Mighty Redeemer, thank you for the gift of family and friendship. Thank you for love that endures and sees beyond the ups and downs of growth. Open my eyes and heart to new connections. Help me recognize new avenues for old friendships to grow. Expand in me the joy of community. Open doors for divine connections that lead to new dreams fulfilled. I expect to know You and myself more intimately as You bring new relationships into my life. *Thank you.

JOURNAL PROMPTS

Friends and family I ran into this week:

Names of those who came to mind to call or text:

Someone I met this week; something we talked about or had in common:
