About the program

Benefits of an Externship

Shorter Time Commitment

You likely won't spend your entire summer at an externship. This can free up your time to pursue other interests, certifications, and internships, or to do one on a shorter break.

Insider Insights

Shadowing an employee gives you an authentic look at a "day in the life" of someone working at a company.

Networking

Externships allow you to connect with the person you're shadowing and the people you meet at the company.

Flexibility

Unlike internships, which may be more structured with deadlines, meetings, and guidelines, externships generally have flexible hours and work requirements.

Decide What You Like (and Don't Like)

If you're unsure of what career path you want to go into, they can give you short, inside views to help you decide what professions, companies, and industries you do (and don't) like.
