

Maritime Services

At BT Maritime Services, our reputation is based firmly on our personal commitment to our customers. We understand the special nature of communicating at sea and we can help you to keep in touch effectively, cost-efficiently and securely.

Above all, however, we believe that success depends upon our quality of service. That means providing variety and flexibility. It means 24-hour service back-up, technical advice and simplified billing arrangements.

Our customer service department is on hand to provide expert consultancy and problem-solving advice. They will be happy to answer any queries and give you more details of the services outlined in this brochure.
