

Communicating in print

Portishead's automated radiotelex system offers the greatest flexibility over a whole range of communications options. It is a perfect medium for transmitting messages outside working hours and allows automatic connection and direct dialling both from ship and shore.

In addition, the telex system provides a comprehensive range of bureau services designed to make a significant contribution to cost-effective ship management, such as Multi-telex, Telex Letter, Voicebank, Semi-fax and Databank.
